Barbecue tragedy; 2 drown

A BARBECUE at Kangaroo Ground, 6 miles from Eltham, ended in tragedy yesterday afternoon when a young constable and a girl were drowned while canoeing on the Yarra.

Two other people were drowned at the weekend, a 21-year-old man at Eltham and a three-year-old girl at Swan Hill.

The names of the constable and the girl will not be released until relatives have been told of their deaths.

The Kangaroo Ground tragedy occurred about 4.30 p.m.

Police were told that a party of men and women went to Kangaroo Ground yesterday morning to a barbecue.

The young couple went boating on the river with another constable and a young woman.

The canoe capsized, throwing the four into the river.

Two vanish

One pair disappeared almost immediately in deep water. The others were helped ashore.

Late last night Inspector E. Tye and police from Russell st., who were rushed to the spot, were searching the river with powerful spotlights loaned by the fire brigade.

Grappling equipment was sent from Russell st. headquarters.

Girl drowns in baths

Swan Hill, Sunday

Three-year-old June Valerie Landy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Landy, Swan Hill, drowned in the Swan Hill Municipal Baths this afternoon.

Mr. J. Beasy, baths lessee, tried artificial respiration, and the child was rushed to Swan Hill Hospital.

She was given oxygen, but failed to respond.

Britain reopens exhange market

EARLY DOLLAR RELIEF IS NEW HOPE

Flexible rate

THE Bank of England announced on Saturday, that from Monday the foreign exchange market would be fully reopened.

Important decisions which will ease the sterling area's shortage of vital dollars are expected to follow.

Leading economists believe Britain has received a strong hint from America of extra support to strengthen sterling, thus making dollar finance much easier.

January talks

They expect important decisions on the dollar-sterling problem from the Commonwealth Finance Ministers' Conference in London on January 15.

These decisions probably will follow a series of technical banking alterations, similar to that contained in the Bank of England's weekend announcement, which are insignificant in themselves but collectively will have an important effect on foreign exchanges.

The decision announced by the Bank of England is to:

- Reopen the London foreign exchange market from Monday.
- No longer fix the forward rate for sterling in terms of currency.
- Fix an official rate of exchange for immediate transactions, but allow narrow fluctuations.
- Maintain $2.80 as the official rate of exchange for £ sterling.
- Continue dollar rationing and restrictions on import licenses.

The chief effect of the change will be that foreign exchange transactions will take place through the open market instead of through the Bank of England.

Commercial banks will be able to buy and sell dollars and other foreign currencies in forward transactions at whatever level the supply and demand of the market establishes.

The rate for spot sterling (immediate transactions) remains fixed at 2.80 dollars to the pound sterling.

But the Bank of England will allow transactions to "spread" above and below that figure.

Just how much margin of spread it allows will not be announced until Monday.

It will be a wider margin than the one per cent. it has been allowing at present.

The Bank's decision, restoring to private dealers and trading banks the right to buy and sell foreign currencies, a monopoly of the Bank of England since the war, is interpreted as a move to:

- Liberalise credit facilities to British exporters by allow-

POLICE SEEK YOUTH AFTER MAN SHOT DEAD

DOUGLAS COCKBURN, aged 19. Police seek his help in their investigations into his father's death.

ALL Victorian police were alerted at the weekend to watch for an armed youth riding a motor-cycle, following a fatal shooting in Burgess st., Preston, on Saturday night.

It is thought that he slept in the bush in a sleeping bag last night and on Saturday.

Harry Roy Cockburn, 53, a departmental manager of Myer Emporium, was shot dead through the head with a .22 rifle.

Police are anxious to trace Mr. Cockburn's eldest son, Douglas, aged 19, whom they believe will be able to assist their inquiries.

In kitchen

The shooting occurred in the kitchen of the Cockburn home at about 7.40 p.m. Police were told an argument had taken place in the room earlier.

At about 7.35 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Cockburn, who have four children, were in the kitchen with members of their family.

The second eldest son, a youth of 16, had gone out for the evening.

Mrs. Cockburn left the room with her two youngest children, leaving Mr. Cockburn alone with a youth.

Hearing a shot, Mrs. Cockburn rushed back to the kit-

LEADING TURF PAIR HOOTED

By JACK ELLIOTT

BIG betting owner Mr. O. R. Porter and his trainer Theo Lewis were subjected on Saturday to one of the most vicious demonstrations at Flemington for many years.

It occurred after Merry Scout was beaten in the Buxton Handicap, which was won comfortably by Iphicles, his stablemate.

Mr. Porter's Merry Scout started favorite at 11-4, while Iphicles, owned by Mrs. G. Manifold and Mr. J. F. T. Grimwade, was solidly supported, and started at 5-1.

As Iphicles passed the post after leading all the way, punters gathered around the mounting yard and began to abuse Mr. Porter, Lewis, and the stewards.

They continued their abuse for 15 minutes after the horses had returned to their stalls.

The demonstrators dispersed when the racecourse band struck up a tune and drowned the shouting.

Mr. Porter was upset after the demonstration. He did not enter the mounting yard after Chatspa, another of his horses, which started favorite in the Benevolent Fund Handicap, had been beaten.

Punters continued to demonstrate throughout the afternoon, and hooted leading jockey Jack Purtell for being beaten on Zethos in the Benevolent Fund Handicap.

Some punters even tried to demonstrate when Moonpath was declared a winner over Varemba after a photo finish in the Benefit Handicap.

Mr. Porter, Australia's biggest owner, has been very successful with his horses recently.

He won a double at Moonee Valley the previous Saturday, and was cheered resoundingly by the crowd.

Czechs expel British "spy"

Nuremberg, Sunday

MR. ROBERT N. GARDENER, a British diplomat expelled from Czechoslovakia on spy charges after being injured by Czech police, arrived in West Germany today.

Miss Dahpne Mains, a British Embassy typist, was shot and wounded by the police who attacked Gardener.

She remained in Prague under hospital treatment.

Gardener, travelling in a British Embassy car, passed through the border station at Waidhaus, Germany at 12.45 p.m. today—five hours before the deadline set for his exist from Czechoslovakia.

Gardener and Miss Mains were arrested by the Czech police on Thursday after they were alleged to have picked up a "spy report" and left 800 dollars (£356) in payment at an "espionage rendezvous."

Opened fire

When challenged by a guard, the Czech police said, the two sought to flee in a waiting car. Police opened fire, wounding Miss Mains, and inflicted unspecified injuries on Gardener.

German border guards at Waidhaus said Gardener appeared to have been wounded about the face, suggesting that he may have been cut by glass from a broken window rather than directly injured by a bullet.

The Czech Government ordered Gardener, who was second secretary of the Prague Embassy to leave the country by 6 p.m. — A.A.P.

PRINCESS IS HIT OF PARTY

London, Sunday

AT the King's birthday party in Windsor Castle, Princess Margaret tried her voice as a ventriloquist.

She worked "Archie Andrews," stage dummy of popular music hall artist Peter Brough.

The Royal party was a gay affair, with more than 500 of the staff present.

At midnight, in the castle's great Waterloo Room, hundreds of balloons came floating down from the ceilings.

The Queen and the Princess stayed till after midnight. They danced with porters and footmen, and then they watched a cabaret.

During dance-time the Queen asked for some of the old-time favorites—the Cuckoo Waltz, the Palais Glide, and a progressive barn dance.

The King missed his birthday party. He remained at Buckingham Palace at the insistence of his doctors.

But the band at the castle played for him the Anniversary Waltz.

Shields was only kidding "Gussie"

WHEN American Davis Cup team captain Frank Shields slated Gussie Moran in an A.B.C. broadcast on Saturday he was only kidding.

At least, that's what Gussie Moran says.

Yesterday Gussie had dinner with Frank's wife, and they talked merrily about tennis.

Miss Moran said Frank was a great guy, who knew she was entitled to her opinion even if it favored the enemy camp.

In his broadcast, Shields suggested Gussie had no real tennis ability or knowledge.

Another suggestion hinted that she had never been known to make a sensible or worthwhile prediction. She had a reputation for being 100% wrong, he added.

When some of the Americans and Gussie had a party last night they told her Frank Shields had given her a "roasting."

But they were laughing when they said it, and Frank's face was one big grin when, with his tongue in his cheek, he told the A.B.C. that Gussie should stick to lace panties.

"OLD BOY" IS NEW HEAD OF XAVIER COLLEGE

The Rev. Philip Gleeson has been appointed rector of Xavier College, Kew, from the beginning of next year.

Father Gleeson, 41, is an Old Xaverian — the first "old boy" to attain the office.

He was captain of the school, and captain of cricket and football, in 1929.

He joined the Jesuit Order in 1930, and after taking his B.A. at Melbourne University took a three-year course in philosophy at the Jesuit Training College at Watsonia.

Father Gleeson returned this year from Oxford, where he gained the post-graduate degree of bachelor of literature.

The Rev. T. S. Costelloe, whom he succeeds at Xavier, has been appointed rector of St. Aloysius' College, Sevenhills, South Australia, a training college for Jesuit priests.

You will be whisked from the haunts of the underworld to the glamor of the film studio in a fascinating holiday special which will begin in "The Argus" next Friday.

ECONOMICS AND EDUCATION

THIS is the season of school speech nights. One speaker at least has stressed the difficulties with which public and other non-State schools are faced in these days of rising costs; difficulties whose impact upon parents is no less serious.

It has been argued that parents who send their children to such schools are not simply purchasing a privilege, but are relieving taxpayers of quite a considerable proportion of the expense involved by the maintenance of State schools. The corollary is that the fees which they pay might reasonably be taken into account when their own income tax is being assessed.

This argument is undoubtedly cogent. But whether this or any other solution is adopted, the main point is that there ought to be some solution. A good education can never be classed as a luxury; and if parents make sacrifices to pay for it, these sacrifices should not be allowed to become unbearable.

Variety

Moreover, it is educationally sound that there should be a variety of schools and systems: it is one of the best guarantees against stereotyped education. In cases of departure from the State system, both schools and parents need to be protected against increasing economic difficulties.

The State schools have their problems also, which call no less urgently for solution. Again, they are largely economic: shortage of teachers, shortage of building materials, not to mention shortage of funds. The building question is very serious; in too many cases State schools are compelled to restrict the number of new pupils. A quota for education! It is hard to believe that such a state of affairs can exist in a young and vigorous country. But it is a fact.

SHAKESPEARE pictures the schoolboy "creeping like snail unwillingly to school." Things have changed since then. Not only has education become more pleasant, but there is a growing realisation by young people of its paramount importance. What creeps like a snail nowadays is not the school pupil, but the solution of those economic difficulties that are crippling our education. And what runs like a hare is the cost of living, including the cost of children's schooling.

Vital

Whatever else may have been sacrificed during and after the Second World War, there are two things that should never have been neglected; and they both vitally affect the rising generation. One is housing, the other education. No youngster can get a fair start in cramped and uncomfortable home surroundings; and it is simply shocking if this bad start is to be followed by difficulties in securing a good education.

Let us get down to bedrock. Marxism is rightly condemned for the narrowness of a materialist doctrine that explains everything by economics. Do we realise that we shall unwittingly be practising a poor, negative sort of Marxism if we allow economics to cripple education? If we believe in democracy and its ideals, we cannot simultaneously believe that education should have a low priority because it does not produce goods.

Its purpose is to produce something more important: enlightened citizens, who are the bulwark of enlightened democracy. It manufactures no fabrics; yet it weaves the inner and abiding fabric of the nation.

WHAT THE BAMBOO SCREEN CONCEALS

By GEOFFREY HUTTON

THE inscrutable East has lost its mystery since China fell into Moscow's camp.

If you paint the world black and white—or red and blue — there is not much point in inquiring what is happening behind China's Bamboo Screen, except in military terms.

The Hon. Michael Lindsay is the eldest son of Lord Lindsay of Birker. His wife, who was one of his university students at Peking, may be the first British peeress of Chinese race.

All the same, the National University at Canberra has offered a research fellowship to the Hon. Michael Lindsay to investigate what is happening in modern China.

Mr. Lindsay admits he doesn't know the whole picture—or he would not be accepting the fellowship.

But there are some things he is sure of, and since he is possibly the leading English authority on modern China, his answers may be news — even to politicians who know all about the world by intuition.

Here are some of the things he said:

- The new regime in China has succeeded in getting Nationalist feeling behind it, and, short of war, we are not likely to change it. However we may dislike it, we should not deceive ourselves into thinking that we can bluff, bully, or exhort 450 million Asians into our way of thinking.
- Chiang is a discredited figure, and there is no visible alternative today to the Communist regime. If we hope for changes in China's policy, they must come from within Mao's group, not from the Kuomintang.
- We are mistaken if we think all Communist leaders are cast in the same mould. There are real differences of opinion among them, and the Western world can help reasonable elements by adopting reasonable policy. We should not make the mistake of judging China's internal politics by her conduct of foreign affairs.
- In its dealings with the world, Peking's ignorance has made it hysterical and doctrinaire. Its leaders know the Chinese peasant better, and treat him with more understanding.

THESE are not snap judgments, they are the careful conclusions of a scholar who has lived in Peking under Japanese domination; who has seen village life in guerrilla areas; who has talked with the most influential leaders of China, and studied every scrap of evidence about the present-day China that he can lay his hands on.

There is painfully little evidence that can be treated as reliable, Mr. Lindsay warned me.

What one can say for certain is that China's revolution has produced a real shift of power right down to village level.

The war lords are finished, and so are the old gangs of ruling families who lived comfortably on graft, disregarded Government orders, and got away with murder. (Mr. Lindsay quoted a case to prove his point.)

Redistribution of land is going ahead throughout China in the hands of an administration which is tough, often brutal, but essentially honest.

In some cases it is being pushed ahead too fast by young Marxist-trained zealots, who are annoying and alienating the slow-thinking peasants; in others it is being handled by practical administrators, who know what they are doing.

"IT is impossible to say at this distance whether things are going well or going badly for China's new rulers.

"Imagine a vast country with wretched communications, a country which isn't used to the rule of law as we know it; where everything depends on the personality of the official on the spot, and it may take weeks or months to reverse an injustice or a stupid mistake.

"You would have to count up every village in China to give a certain answer—and that is one thing you can't do now."

But the Communist Government has one enormous strength—at present there is nothing to replace it. Anyone more competent than the old administrators can count on popular support.

And the Communists received a moral gift from Chiang when he embarked on his abysmally stupid blockade and nuisance bombing from his Formosan hideout.

This swung even conservative Chinese behind the new Government, and helped to identify it with Nationalist feeling.

WHAT of the men who are at the head of this new Government?

Mr. Lindsay knew Mao in his anti-Japanese days as a plain man, who kept close to the people, and seemed less of a doctrinaire than many of his followers.

"His great strength was that he was the man who sat down and thought out facts. Mao usually produced the Party's strategy, and, because he understood the peasants, it usually worked out."

Lindsay said: "But Mao was ignorant of the outside world, and his visit to Moscow in 1949 probably didn't teach him much. His foreign policy has been a series of blunders and guesses."

Of Chou En-lai, China's foreign spokesman, he says:

"A very able and intelligent man when I knew him — and I knew him well.

"I can only imagine that he is tied to the Party line—and the Party line in foreign affairs is not only decided before the facts are known, it is decided by people who don't even understand the methods of diplomacy."

THIS is where the new China is showing her greatest weakness.

"China's recent handling of foreign relations has played straight into the hands of Chiang's Kuomintang lobby in Washington. One could almost imagine that Chiang had a fifth columnist in charge at Peking.

"With a little politeness and a little common sense, China could have had a seat on the U.N. Council last year. Now its chance has gone."

In spite of its disastrous foreign policy, Mr. Lindsay approves of Britain's decision to recognise Mao's Government.

"This is the Government of China, and no good purpose is served by pretending it is not.

"And a vocal group of Americans which wants to label the whole world black or white is hindering, rather than helping, the Western world in its effort to solve the Chinese riddle.

"The real distinction in China is not between Communists and the Kuomintang; it is between reasonable people and fanatics—and there are both in the new Government.

"It doesn't matter so much what political color fanatics wear—there is a lot in common between such bitter enemies as Molotov in Moscow and McCarthy in Washington.

"A lot of Chinese Communists are decent, sensible people, but they are fighting an uphill battle with their extremists."

THIS should be the clue to our China policy.

"What strengthens the extremists in one country is the actions of extremists in another.

"Every time the China lobby in Washington produces a new piece of provocation it gives a fillip to the Moscow group in Peking. And the Moscow group, in its folly, is playing straight into the hands of the intransigents in Washington.

"If our own policy towards China is reasonable, it will strengthen the hand of the people in China who want to get on with us. We can help most in our dealings with China by keeping our own fanatics in check.

This is Mr. Lindsay's considered view, and it does not apply to any one country but to the Western world at large.

HE is not telling Australia what to do, because he does not know Australia yet, and he only discusses things he does know.

He does not hold out any prospect of wooing China away from Marxism, nor he does think in terms of maintaining the independence of its leaders from Moscow.

He even believes it possible that Peking's policy may be modified to a point where it will abandon its deliberate attempt to squeeze out foreign interests.

And does anyone remember what happened in Communist Yugoslavia?

. . . the Chinese riddle

Those crazy comedians "go straight"

SCREEN, by F. Keith Manzie

A DELICATE lad who is severely handicapped psychologically because of a father who sets too high a standard for him provides the surprising theme for a really amusing comedy, "That's My Boy," at the King's.

"Surprising" because you'd never expect to find a crazy comedy team such as Martin and Lewis playing leads in such a straightforward and comparatively restrained piece of humor as this.

And most surprising of all is the fact that a zany comic like Jerry Lewis acts with such quiet effectiveness and does such an excellent job as the weakling boy with a father complex.

The story tells of his courageous bid to "make" the college football team like his famous dad did before him.

This is quite a new and a much more interesting Lewis, and in his subdued handling of the part he reveals considerable potentials in the field of top-line humorists.

THE more hearty performer, Dean Martin, also plays it down quite a lot in the "college hero" part of the room-mate who helps build up an ego for the timid Lewis.

And Marion Marshall is pleasant as the girl working her way through college as a clothing saleswoman, who also lends a hand in giving Lewis a new personality.

But best performance of all comes from screen newcomer Eddie Mayehoff, a Broadway star, in an excellent bit of work as the conceited father, still a college boy at heart, whose high-pressure personality and athletic records are too much for his son.

A first-rate character performer, Mayehoff is reminiscent of Spencer Tracy in his polished light comedy work.

With attractive Ruth Hussey as the mother, completing a splendid cast, "That's My Boy" is one of the best college football comedies the screen has given us, and one of the brightest bits of screen humor of the year.

"That's my boy!" says cute-looking Marion Marshall as she embraces Dean Martin in the comedy of that name.

★ MUSIC .... by BIDDY ALLEN

Enchanting carol beautifully sung

Across the air the silver sheepbell rang,
"The lambs are coming home," sweet Mary sang.
"Your star of gold is shining in the sky,
"So sleep, my little king, go lullaby."

BEAUTIFULLY sung at the Town Hall on Saturday night by Dorothy Cayford, this enchanting carol, to music by Michael Head, had to be repeated.

England, France, Bohemia, Russia, Latvia, Germany, and Poland contributed to the admirable programme of such "nursery songs of heaven," presented under the direction of Herbert Davis by the Malvern and Box Hill Choral Societies, the Dulcet Trio, Dzintars Veide (baritone), the Zelman Symphony Orchestra, and Laurence Warner (organ).

Accustomed to a concert hall style of carol singing, the audience was at first startled, and later enraptured by Mr. Veide's gay, spontaneous treatment of "From Heaven Above" and "The Noble Stem of Jesse."

This was authentic carol singing as heard in the medieval towns of Europe, where minstrels and mummers join in festive entertainment on Christmas Eve, and the children meet angels and shepherds walking in the streets.

Generally excellent choral singing rose to eloquence in the fine contemporary carol by Martin Shaw, "There was a Rosebud," and the programme closed on a note of exultant climax with Gustav Holst's arrangement for soloists, chorus, orchestra, and organ of the Greek hymn "Let All Mortal Flesh Keep Silent."

THEY BLAME INFLATION

Now it's holidays on "lay-by"

HUNDREDS of Melbourne and Geelong families are paying for their Christmas holidays "on the lay-by."

The travel bureau operating the scheme is accepting payments ranging from 2/ to £10 at a time.

Holiday-makers can "time-pay" for anything from a single day bus trip to a round-the-world cruise.

Among the lay-by users is an Irish migrant who has been in Australia for many years.

He is paying his return fare to Ireland by instalments, so that he can visit his parents.

Several Melbourne people are using the scheme to pay for world tours.

The scheme began when many people complained that inflated living costs made it impossible or difficult for them to have holidays.

Mr. L. Landman, manager of Central Travel Bureau, which runs the scheme, said last night:

"Its success is almost staggering.

"We issue people with a card.

"They can pay in any amount from 2 at any time.

"They do not have to choose their holiday, and unless they wish to cancel a specific booking they can withdraw their money whenever they wish."

Guest houses at Mornington Peninsula said last night that November and December pre-Christmas bookings were the lowest of any year since the war.

They blamed rising living costs, which reduced the money people could afford for holidays, and restriction of guest-house services, forced on owners by price control.

Nevertheless, most guest houses are booked out for the Christmas-New Year period.

We're short of 1d.'s

The Royal Mint, Melbourne, is making about 3,600,000 pennies a month to meet a shortage.

A Mint official said last night that recent price and fare increases had caused a record demand for pennies.

Thousands of price rises of one or two pence had followed the last Federal Budget.

The high price of copper, now £500 a ton, had nothing to do with the shortage, the official said.

It cost the Mint slightly more than a penny to make a penny, but the profit on silver coins made up the loss.

There was also a shortage of 3d. pieces, the official said.

He blamed people who hoarded threepences in bottles and tins at home for this.

He said the Mint had been working overtime for the last three years to replace 2½ million threepences which disappeared each month.

Brewery men to go back?

The dispute at Abbotsford Brewery, which threatened Christmas beer supplies, is expected to be settled today.

Mr. M. C. Jordan, Trades Hall Council assistant secretary, said last night that the brewery engineering staff would probably resume after a meeting at 7.30 this morning.

The engineering staff walked off their jobs on Friday after six men were sacked.

A report of a conference between Mr. Jordan, Mr. C. M. Southwell, A.E.U. organiser, and Mr. R. F. G. Fogarty, general manager, Carlton and United Breweries, will be submitted to the meeting.

HOSSACK IS FREED: MOTHER REJOICES

In their two-roomed home in Chapman st., North Melbourne, last night, Mr. and Mrs. G. Hossack started to prepare for Christmas with thankful hearts.

Their son, Pte. Alfred James Hossack, has been acquitted by a court martial of murdering a South Korean soldier.

"I knew my boy was not guilty, but I prayed that he would be acquitted," Mrs. Hossack said.

"I prayed hard, and God answered my prayer. Now I'm praying that he'll be sent back home, by Christmas maybe."

And in Korea, Pte. Hossack, acquitted by the court after five minutes' deliberation, said:

"That five minutes waiting for the verdict was the worst five minutes in my life.

"I knew I was innocent, but it was still the most terrifying feeling I've ever known.

"I wasn't worried during the trial, except about the effect on my mother.

"She has been ill recently."

Hossack said he hoped to get home to Melbourne on rotation in February, says A.A.P.-Reuter's Korea correspondent.

Hossack was charged with shooting a South Korean soldier in Hanae village on September 5.

He said he fired at a man who was levelling a rifle at him.

The court martial lasted six days.

Defence counsel, Major J. H. Nankivell, of Malvern, Melbourne, celebrated the acquittal with a "toast" in rum.

Other members of the court found the drink cheering as well, because it was freezing cold in the court room, says an A.A.P.-Reuter's message.

The resignation of Mr. H. Guy Bartholomew from the chairmanship of the London Daily Mirror and Sunday Pictorial was announced in London during the weekend.

Mr. Bartholomew is succeeded by Mr. Cecil Harmsworth King, a nephew of the late Lord Northcliffe, founder of the London Daily Mail.

Mr. King has been a director of the Daily Mirror since 1929 and deputy chairman of the Sunday Pictorial since 1942.

Mr. Bartholomew became chairman of the companies in 1944.

TOWN DUG POOL IN 16 HOURS

Hamilton, Sunday

IN 16 hours yesterday Australia's biggest voluntary working bee tore 1,500 cubic yards of ground from Hughan Park, Hamilton.

An army of 1,000 workers, with about 40 tractors, bulldozers, and scoops, dug an Olympic swimming-pool, 165ft. by 50ft., and from 3ft. to 10ft. deep.

And at one end they cut a learners' pool 94ft. by 30ft.

They started at 6 a.m., when Mr. Eric Banfield drove a 60-h.p. tractor with a 4ft. scoop on to the site. They finished at 10 p.m., under floodlights.

Mr. E. T. M. Stevens, Hamilton city engineer, said: "We had to post police to keep the kiddies out. It was too dangerous.

"There were about 40 earth-moving machines in the park."

Mr. R. S. White, Mayor of Hamilton, said, "It was truly staggering."

Hamilton women, working shifts, set up marquees to serve food to hungry workers.

Bakers donated bread, butchers gave meat.

Nearly every club and organisation in Hamilton helped.

First aid stations were set up, and even a "man in grey" was appointed to direct new volunteers to their sections.

Mr. Hal Theobold, Hamilton Rotary president, suggested the idea.

Prime Minister attends his chauffeur's wedding

MR. MENZIES, Prime Minister, was a guest at the wedding of his chauffeur, Reginald Allan Pearson, of Guyra (N.S.W.), to Miss Shirley Anne Sturgess, at St. Martin's Church of England, Hawksburn, on Saturday. Shirley is the daughter of Mrs. G. Tonge, of South Yarra, and Mr. Arthur G. Sturgess of Birregurra. Allan is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Pearson, of John's Creek, Guyra.

Bob thinks his dog is his dead fiancee returned

London, Sunday

Cockney Bob Smith, of dockland, Bermondsey, believes his Alsatian bitch Rita is the reincarnation of his dead fiancee, Doris.

He was reluctant to come to this conclusion, but he has found no other explanation to give his wife.

These are the facts:

Rita has uncanny powers. She can tell the time, count up to 12, and "read" playing cards.

And even more remarkable, says Bob, she reads his mind when he is out of the room.

Fifteen years ago Bob's fiancee was suddenly stricken by a terrible illness.

Almost with her last breath she said: "I will come back to you, Bob. I will be in a different form. But you will know me."

Then one day a friend showed Bob a litter of Alsatian pups.

One, almost pure black, ran whimpering to him at once. "Something told me I should buy it," he says.

Even when she was a few weeks old Rita the pup began displaying almost human understanding of her master's wishes.

She insisted on a "kiss" whenever he left or arrived home.

If her master greeted his family first instead of letting Rita paw his neck, she sulked and refused to eat.

Then Rita began leading Bob to a Bermondsey park.

"I was fascinated and puzzled as Rita, off the lead, led me to the very pathway and quiet corners that Doris and I knew," he says.

"There's the evidence. What else can I believe?"—Special Service.

HE KILLED THE SHARK THAT BIT HIM

Sydney, Sunday

An 18-year-old Bondi spearfisherman today knifed to death a 6ft. shark which had bitten him on the ankle.

The spearman, Lindsay Munn, spotted the shark, a wobbegong, in a deep pool among the rocks north of the surfing beach.

He fired a spear into the shark, which started to swim away.

Munn entered the water to haul on the spearline, and the shark turned and snapped at his ankle. It caused a wound that required ambulance treatment.

Mr. Munn said: "I attacked the shark with my knife. There was plenty of blood around before I killed it."

'Bex powders are always quick to check the pain'

From a recent snapshot of Mr. W. A. Newton writes

Mr. W. A. Newton,
452 Cleveland Street,
Moore Park, N.S.W.

"As a listener to Bex Radio programmes I have, of course heard many testimonials about your famous product. I know that these are absolutely true from my own experience. Nine years ago I had the index finger crushed and later amputated. The nerves of the finger are still active and at times cause me much pain. But Bex powders are always quick to check the pain and give genuine relief, where all other powders have failed. I find them an excellent stand by."

THE QUICK WAY TO END PAIN IS WITH BEX

Bex gives you quick relief with complete safety. That is why Bex is a family stand by throughout Australia and why it is by far the most asked-for pain-reliever in the Commonwealth. With Bex you do not experiment, you use an old and well tried product, that does not harm the heart, upset the stomach or leave any harmful after effects. The hundreds of letters received express gratitude for the speed and certainty of Bex action, and your first experience with Bex will convince you.

CONSTANT PAIN IS A WARNING

There are some people who suffer constantly from pain. Such cases can be serious because the pain may be nature's warning of some underlying condition that requires the urgent attention of a doctor who will diagnose and treat the cause of the trouble, but to relieve the pain, take Bex.

Youth in U.S.A. 'bereft of hope'

The absence of hope among young people in America was the most saddening thing he had observed, the Rev. Alan Walker said last night.

Mr. Walker, superintendent of the Methodist Mission in Sydney, was speaking as "Guest of Honor" over the A.B.C., on his return from the U.S.A.

"I noticed that questions by young people at missions to universities were phrased pessimistically," Mr. Walker said.

"There is something infinitely pathetic about a generation that fears to expect much from life.

"Resignation was more apparent than bitterness.

"War and military life make no appeal, and there is a smouldering bitterness against compulsory military training."

"Religious"

Young people were vitally interested in religion, and this was in line with the feeling in Australian universities.

"Youth today in America is more conservative than for many generations," he said.

"Radicalism is in eclipse, and, in religion, young people are very orthodox.

"They are also more ready to defend the economic order than to attack it, though this is more marked in America than in Australia."

ARMSTRONG'S COMMENT: "More Expense!"

"Allright, allright! But I take a dim view of you mob joining the Mannequins' Association!"

AMPOL PETROLEUM LIMITED

Address by Leslie J. Thompson, Chairman of Directors, at the Fifteenth Annual Meeting held on Friday, 14th December, 1951.

Ladies and Gentlemen,

In moving the adoption of the Directors' Report and Balance Sheet, I would like to refer briefly to some of the interesting and important aspects of the Company's activities and progress during the past twelve months.

Net Profit

The Consolidated Accounts show that the trading and shipping activities of the Company and its subsidiaries, before making provision for Income Tax and writing off additional or special depreciation, resulted in a record net profit of £499,889, being £177,100, or 55% more than the previous year.

I have made the comparison on this basis because Taxation is not a legitimate cost of business and its variable rate obscures the true comparison.

After allowing for taxation at the high rate of 9/- in the £, recently imposed by Parliament, and writing off additional depreciation amounting to £70,750, the net profits available aggregate £273,064, which is an increase on the previous year of £82,470 and represents over 18% on the paid up Ordinary Capital after providing for the 6% Preference dividend.

Net profits over the past four years have been maintained at fairly high levels, viz.

1948	18.1%
1949	16.7%
1950	14.7%
1951	18.3%

and this achievement, coupled with the healthy state of the Company's reserves influenced the Board to raise the dividend from 8½% to 9½% for the year.

Reserves and Shareholders' Funds

The Company's free reserves have now reached the total of £650,000, while the profits carried forward have been increased from £3,284 to £56,883, giving a grand total of over £700,000. This, added to the paid up Capital of £1,830,000, now makes the total of the Shareholders' funds £2,536,883.

Trading Operations

The satisfactory net profit results stem largely from the expanding sales of the Company's products and the increasing shipping profits. A graphic description of the Company's progress over the past 12 years is contained in the Managing Director's Report and reveals that while total imports of petroleum and petroleum products into Australia have increased since 1939 by 141%, the Company's gallonage sales increased by 193%, and that last year the sales rose to £7,995,329, which is an increase of 34½% over the previous year.

Shareholders will remember that at the last annual meeting I reported that the Company had expanded its general marketing to the State of South Australia and I am sure you will be gratified to learn that the sales in that State have exceeded the Board's expectations.

The success achieved in South Australia encouraged the Board to expedite the erection of a seaboard terminal in Brisbane so that the Company's marketing of motor spirit could be expanded into the State of Queensland as early as possible. This terminal, which was commenced some months ago, is already nearing completion and marketing will commence in the City of Brisbane and the South Coast of Queensland down to the N.S.W. border on 3rd January 1952.

When this takes place the Company will be marketing in every State of the Commonwealth except Western Australia.

Oil Search

Although the Company has not yet extended its marketing to the State of Western Australia, it has been actively engaged there in another and very important direction during the past few years viz. in oil exploration.

I refer to this subject with considerable gratification because the successful work done by your Company, and the money expended by it over recent years, has resulted in the making of a very favourable agreement with California Texas Corporation under which further development, including drilling activities, will be carried on by a new operating Company, West Australian Petroleum Pty. Ltd., the shares in which will be held exclusively by Californian Texas Corporation and your Company in the agreed upon proportions of 80% and 20% respecevely. Under this arrangement California Texas Corporation will supply, without further cost to your Company, the equipment, personnel and finances necessary for the drilling of a deep test well in the North West basin area.

Tankers

The Company's Chartered Tankers "Stanglen" and "James Stove" have been fully employed during the year and the profits from these activities combined with the increasing volume of business necessitating more tankerage, have suggested the prudence of purchasing a Tanker.

Accordingly the Board recently completed a contract to purchase a Tanker of 18,000 tons now in course of construction in a British Shipyard, delivery of which is expected in about a year's time. This Tanker, which will cost over £1,350,000, will have a capacity of more than five million gallons and will be one of the most modern and largest to come to Australia.

New Capital Issue

The necessary consent of the Capital Issues Board having been obtained, your Board has decided to issue further capital early in the New Year. Before issuing this new Capital, however, your Board desires to reconstruct the present Capital by (a) providing for the further issue of preference share (b) subdividing each £1 ordinary share into four shares of 5/- each and (c) providing for the subsequent conversion of each issued and fully paid 5/- share into a 5/- stock unit.

This reconstruction follows the modern trend, and the adoption of 5/- stock units will reduce the work and lower the costs of the Share Department by removing the need of consecutive numbering of shares while the lower denomination of 5/- will widen the scope of investors.

One Brand Stations

Shareholders will naturally be interested to know the Board's reaction to the introduction by our Competitors of this new method of marketing through one brand stations.

From the outset the Board opposed this method as being anathema to the average Australian who has an inbred dislike of the "tied house" system of merchandising.

The Board's policy therefore has been to combine with other Australian Companies to maintain independent stations and to help in demonstrating that better service to the public will flow where the choice of brand is free and the Garage Proprietor is independent of the Supplier.

Staff

Before concluding this address I would like on behalf of the Board and Shareholders to express appreciation of the work of the Executives and Staff and thank them for the success of their efforts over the past year.

A copy of the Company's illustrated Annual Report will be mailed free and post free on application.

WHAT GOES ON?

That pretty postcard from Aunt Edith . . . and the present for the baby from brother George . . . the delight of tearing open parcels — it's Christmas through the mails.

But what do you think it means to your postman—the patient man who pops letters in your mailbox six days a week and rings the front door bell with the parcels.

We asked a couple, and between letter-boxes they told us the grim story.

Their day begins at 5 a.m., sorting letters for their round, and since last Monday have been ending at 8 p.m.

They leave their post-offices twice a day carrying the maximum load of 35lb. of mail, for delivery on rounds up to 8 miles long.

Of course 35lb. of mail doesn't last them more than a couple of blocks these days, so they pick up extra bags of mail at staging depots along the round.

They snatch a hurried snack at their two half-hour meal breaks, and in a week knock up 84 hours of labor.

And this will go on until well into the New Year, with breaks only for Sundays and Christmas Day.

This year, with less staff, the Post-office is handling about 5% more mail than at the same date last year.

The increased postal charges this year brought no relief at all to the posties' feet.

Each man wears out about four pairs of boots a year, after each pair has been resoled twice.

He gets no allowance for this, and we all know what boot repairs cost these days.

Steal

MAYBE this is because of the high cost of gardening these days. Maybe it isn't.

But in our travels yesterday we discovered that there is an epidemic of seedling stealing down Sandringham way.

Prime victim is the Sandringham Council.

Local curator tells us that several hundreds of seedlings have been stolen from the beach gardens in the last few weeks.

Most upsetting, he says—particularly for the gardeners trying to get patterns into their displays.

The thefts have not been confined to the petunias and phlox, either.

Dahlias and chrysanthemum plants have vanished in great quantities.

But the gardeners are keeping a close eye on their 15ft. palms. The thief will have to be good to get them.

Help

SIR EDMUND HERRING raised a laugh at Hampton High School speech night with this one:

Several years ago popular King Christian, of Denmark, was on his usual pre-breakfast jaunt on horseback when he saw a small boy trying to reach the front door knocker of a Copenhagen home.

The King rode over, and, reaching down from his horse, rapped the knocker for the delighted boy.

"What do we do now?" asked King Christian.

"Now we run," the boy hurriedly replied.

Shear

TOM DOUGHERTY, Australian Workers' Union Federal secretary, strongly disputes a United States wool industry claim that the American is the "world champion shearer."

He saw American shearers in action recently in the United States, and he is convinced that Australians would "run rings around them."

To prove his claim he is now trying to organise an international shearing competition.

Dougherty reckons that such a competition would attract "gun" shearers—250 and more sheep a day men—from New Zealand, South America, South Africa, the United States, and Canada, as well as our own top-liners.

He has already asked the Sydney Royal Agricultural Society to stage an Australian championship.

By the way, he tells us that shearing competitions are regular features of country fairs—the American equivalent of our agricultural shows.

Ouch!

WELL-KNOWN city engineering establishment recently received a tractor part for repair.

Attached was a letter from the farmer-owner emphasising the great urgency of the job.

The firm co-operated, the job was given top priority, and the tractor part duly despatched back.

To the manager's disgust, a fortnight later he received a powerfully worded letter from the farmer criticising the firm for the delay.

On and on it went for three pages—three pages full of abuse for the slack young generation, &c, &c.

Then at the end of the long harangue was this P.S.:

"I have just been advised that the part has been at the local railway station for two weeks."

And that's all!

Values

MELBOURNE head office of the Australian Wool Board gets among its reports on wool matters from all over the world some stray bits of interesting history.

One such arrived last week.

It says that a special department of the Amsterdam National Gallery is at present renovating a wool tapestry made in 1596.

According to Dutch records, it was woven by classic weaver Jan Rufelaer on a commission of 357 guilders (about £30) for the magistrates of Gouda Hall.

Guess what it's worth today.

Just 75,000 guilders—£7,000.

Actress, husband in hiding

'FORGET SHOOTING,' SAYS VICTIM

FOLLOWING FATHER'S FOOTSTEPS

Hollywood, Sunday

DISTRICT Attorney Ernest Roll said yesterday he was "getting the run-around" in his investigation of the Joan Bennett "triangle" shooting.

Roll went to hospital to see the victim of the shooting, Jennings Lang, 40, but found him under sedatives and unable to talk.

Then he talked to Lang's wife, who refused to answer some of his questions.

Roll said that he needed to get details from the victim before deciding on charges to be filed against Miss Bennett's husband, producer Walter Wanger.

Wanger told police after he shot Lang on Friday that he suspected Lang of breaking up his marriage.

Lang said earlier that he hoped the whole affair would be forgotten soon.

"Wanger has misconstrued what was solely a business relationship between me and Miss Bennett," he said.

"Since there are families and children concerned, I hope this whole regrettable incident can be forgotten as quickly as possible."

He added that he was "bewildered by the unfortunate and unprovoked event."

Any dealings between him and Miss Bennett were strictly business.

Miss Bennett also denied that there was any romantic link between them.

She, too, said she hoped to be allowed to "forgive and forget."

However, her attorney, Grant Cooper, said there had been divorce talks.

There was no third party involved and the cause was Wanger's worry over money.

"Defying law"

"Several people are defying the authorities in this matter," Roll said.

"We have until Thursday to file charges against Wanger, but we hope we can file them as soon as possible."

Roll said that even Hollywood notables could not settle their differences with gunplay and get away with it.

If Lang declined to prosecute Wanger, Roll said his office would prosecute, "regardless of the desire of the participants."

He added that he had warned Lang's attorney, Oliver Schwab, that Lang would be moved to the Los Angeles General Hospital prison ward if the district attorney's representatives were prevented from talking to the wounded man.

Lang was reported to be progressing satisfactorily in hospital.

Miss Bennett is in seclusion with her sister, Barbara, and two of her four daughters in her rambling Hollywood home.

Star followed

Wanger, who is on £2,400 bail, went into hiding in a friend's apartment after a hurried visit to his home last night to see his daughters and move out his suitcases.

Meantime, Hollywood is intrigued by two reports from private detectives who shadowed Lang and Miss Bennett for Wanger.

Roll said that the reports were found in Wanger's car after he shot Lang, but refused to reveal their contents.

Wanger, however, said he "saw about a year ago that Joan's affection for me had chilled."

Suspected affair

"I suspected an affair with Lang," he said.

Wanger said that he warned Lang in New York last January that "if any man breaks up my home or my family I will kill him—I'll shoot him."

But he said today he did not intend to kill Lang.

"I just wanted to wound him," he said.

He was released 18 hours after he shot Lang in the groin as Lang chatted with Miss Bennett in a parking lot across the street from Beverly Hills police station.—U.P. and A.A.P.

Butter ration powers doubt

THE Federal Government's constitutional powers to reintroduce butter rationing were doubtful, a Commonwealth Crown Law Department officer said last night.

Only the High Court could give a definite decision on the question.

The extent to which the Defence Preparations Act could be used in dealing with issues like rationing was most uncertain, the officer said.

Mr. McEwen, Commerce Minister, said last night that the Australian Dairy Board had not approached him suggesting that the Government should re-introduce butter rationing.

He was doubtful of the legal aspect.

Mr. E. H. Du Cros, secretary of the Australian Dairy Board, said that the board had not considered or suggested the re-introduction of butter rationing.

He explained that drought had caused a shortage of butter in Queensland, which in the past had been a large exporter. New South Wales also was experiencing an acute shortage.

He said that Queensland was trying to obtain butter from Victoria, which was already supplying New South Wales, South Australia, and Western Australia.

If unsuccessful Queensland might be compelled to introduce some form of local rationing.

THE Myer STORE FOR MEN

THE MAJOR'S COLUMN

IN THE SCURRY AND CONFUSION over last-minute gifts for previously forgotten Toms, Dicks and Cecils, don't overlook your own requirements for Yuletide parties and the summer holidays to follow.

IT'S A NICE COMPLIMENT to your hostess if you show up in evening dress apart from being a "must" aboard ship or at many of the better-type resorts. You'll have to admit it, too, you look better than you think in formal dress. And because the new things are varied and cool, getting ready for the evening is no longer the handship it used to be in grandpa's day.

NEWEST THING under the tropical moon is the sharkskin tuxedo. As cool as iced champagne and very handsome with its glistening whiteness and sleek, well-groomed air. Only £13/10/ in your size on the S. for M.'s fourth floor. As well, you'll have the choice of linens lined and unlined, lightweight wools from less than £10, and a smartly de luxe hand made job at round about sixteen notes. Fawn, cream, grey, steel blue or junior navy are some of the colours, and you'll want to see them all.

AT A PINCH you can get by with the trousers from your dinner suit or tails. But when the heat is really on you'll want to do the thing properly with the new tropic-weight trousers in black pure wool. Just about half the weight of ordinary trousers, yet tailored with the same smooth drape and attention to detail, they'll set you back a mere 101/-, on the S. for M.'s fourth floor.

"A WOMAN is only a woman," said Rudyard Kipling, "but a good cigar is a smoke." A handsome cedarwood cabinet of 50 rich and fragrant Jamaican cigars will go your way for £7/17/6 on the ground floor. Luxury living at its best, you'll be the perfect host to keep some on hand over Christmas.

Good morning!

REDS GIVE UP TO "NERVE WAR"

Korea, Sunday

PSYCHOLOGICAL warfare had led to the capture of about one-third of the 170,000 enemy prisoners taken in the Korean war, the U.S. Army claimed yesterday

Leaflets dropped over troops' areas, radio broadcasts, and use of loud-speakers, were primarily responsible.

Thousands of the prisoners were Chinese, the rest, North Koreans, a spokesman said.

Since the war started, more than 850,000,000 leaflets had been dropped from aircraft, or fired in artillery shells.

The spokesman emphasised that no one believed psychological warfare could win a war, but it had been very successful in Korea.

Only point of agreement between the Allied and Communist truce negotiators at Pan Mun Jom today was that they should meet again tomorrow.

Two sub-committees met. One dealt with exchange of prisoners, the other with truce supervision. They made no progress.

The Allies offered to withdraw their demand for an immediate inspection of Communist prisoner-of-war camps by International Red Cross observers if the Communists would supply a list of Allied prisoners held.

The Communists rejected the offer.—A.A.P.

Offer to aid tours bureau

The Road Passenger Service Operators' Association is prepared to take over a section of the Collins st. Tourist Bureau, now being used for road motor bookings.

Mr. L. C. Freeman, association secretary, has made this offer to Mr. R. G. Wishart, Chief Railways Commissioner.

Mr. Freeman expressed concern at reports that Tourist Bureau facilities may be reduced.

"Eventually the bureau may revert to little more than a railways booking office," he said.

The hands of Billy Hughes

Mr. W. M. ("Billy") Hughes, M.H.R., visited Melbourne over the weekend for the first time in eight years. Given a free hand at an informal Press conference in Wesley Church yesterday, the wisdom of his 87 years, 57 in State and Federal Parliament, was directed to—gluttony.

● "Gluttony is a greater enemy of man, morally and physically, than liquor," he declared (above), while his hand voted for him.

". . . An animal knows when it has eaten enough. A glutton doesn't. He keeps on." (Billy's hands kept on until he'd run out of fingers).

". . . If you want to live long, eat little." (He measured the scope of that thought.)

". . . We are conquering disease. You can keep on living, and living, and living. I am an example." (That fact needed no emphasis.)

His final pointer: "I can't see any change in Melbourne since I was here last. If I can't see them, you won't. You've only been here a little while."

After a service in Wesley Church, Mr. Hughes unveiled a marble memorial tablet to Mrs. Agnes Benson, late wife of Dr. Irving Benson.

FOOTNOTE. Melbourne overwhelmed the "Little Digger" with handclaps—and handshakes.

'We'll find Asia at our door'

MILLIONS of "surplus" Asians would be knocking on Australia's door in a few years, demanding entry, Mr. W. M. Hughes warned yesterday.

"If they cannot migrate, they have no escape from death — death from starvation," he said.

Mr. Hughes was speaking at Wesley Church Pleasant Sunday Afternoon.

He told the audience that in Japan alone there were six million to seven million surplus people.

He said: "We have 8,250,000 people, and Australia could support at least 50 million.

"At the same time, Japan's surplus people are faced with death. The Japanese are not going to take that lying down.

"For 163 years — the most turbulent years in all history — we have fought to hold Australia.

British backed

"I am one of those responsible for what we call the 'White Australia policy.'

"If we had not had the sea power of Britain to back us that policy would have been no more than a piece of paper in a gale of wind.

"We took this country by force from the aborigines.

"We have held it by force ever since. We will not hold it in future just by talking — we will have to act."

Mr. Hughes said men who preached "go-slow" tactics and used the dark were enemies of Australia.

Fifty years ago Communism was just a theory in a book. Today it was a great and malign agency, with Russia as its impelling spirit.

Japan "rearms" toyland

Tokyo, Sunday

While Japan's newspapers argue over rearmament in big headlines, a silent remilitarisation has been going on in the realms of her toyland.

Japanese shops are offering a profusion of toy weapons to replace the harmless dolls, trains, trams, and motor-cars which cluttered the shelves in former years.

A bristling array of "Patton" tanks, jet planes, machine-guns, warships, and pistols, lined up in military formation, caters for the arms-conscious children of Japan.

One toy is a model of the Mogami, once the proudest and fastest cruiser of Japan's Imperial Navy. Model planes, reminiscent of Zero fighters in strafing dives, hang from shop ceilings.

Toy guns are labelled "peace pistol" and "Nobel gun" after the Nobel peace prizes.—A.A.P.

SAFETY SIGNS No. 6

Hairpin Bend to the Left

This is a predictive sign . . . a danger sign . . . if ever there was one. How motorists would curse if this warning were not given them. Yet, with all the stark implications of danger inherent in this sign, there are motorists who ignore it by taking these bends at too great a speed. Doing so is not good or clever driving. It is either unforgivable carelessness, complete inability to gauge speed, or lack of experience.

Speeding for the sake of speed and in defiance of Road Signs and road courtesies is, at any time, inexcusable. Time saved, if that be the excuse, and if one's luck holds, is of small account when compared with time lost in a likely accident or through being in hospital — to say nothing of a more serious result.

On the question of speed, motorists would do well to remember that a car travels about one and a half times as many feet each second as the speedometer reading. In other words, if the car is moving at 40 miles an hour, it is travelling at 60 feet per second. Sixty feet is ten feet more than the average suburban house frontage. Remember this. Drive safe. Obey the Road Signs and Rules of the Road.

PETERS ICE CREAM IS COMPLETELY PASTEURISED

One travels many highways on the road of life. The journeys are not enjoyed to the full if health is not the best. Good health comes from good food and highest on the every-day list is milk and cream. Peters Ice Cream is made from daily-fresh milk and cream, completely pasteurised, and contains Sugar and Lactose for energy; Proteins for muscle-building; Mineral Salts, Calcium and Carbo-hydrates to tone the blood and to build strong bones and teeth. All units of manufacture and transportation are sterilised and immunised immediately before and after use, preventing any possibility of bacterial infection.

LETTERS (in a nutshell)

Schooling

TO P. J. Ottrey (15/12) I say Clive Turnbull is right on the beam about "fair play" for ALL parents who send children to private schools. How compensating parents by remitting income tax could wreck democracy is beyond understanding. Protestant England and Scotland maintain schools for Catholics and pay full salaries to Catholic nuns and brothers, and Catholic Eire supports Protestant schools without wrecking anything.—E. ADAMS (Moorabbin).

TAXI

NEED for more city taxis is emphasised by the absence of vehicles on street stands—particularly in peak periods. Before the parking "blitz" private motorists occupied some ranks, but there were no taxis on many stands last week.—EVAN FRANKLYN (Mont Albert).

Leg guards

LEG guards for motorcyclists, as urged by police, are unnecessary and an added charge on the family budget. Police should be more vigilant and severe in prosecution of car and motorcycle drivers rather than holding spasmodic "blitz" campaigns. — V. T. GRAY (Glenhuntly).

Anthems

I LOOKED forward to the Davis Cup round being played by Sweden and America, and to the playing of three National Anthems. I was disgusted, however, when our National Anthem was cut short whilst the others were played to completion. What example of loyalty to our Royal Sovereign was this in our visitors' eyes? More than only a few bars should be played at the Olympic Games in 1956.—G. KIDMAN (Melbourne).

Presents

WITH Christmas at hand, many children will receive scooters, trikes, and bikes as gifts. Let's hope that infants so endowed will not persistently ride them on footpaths. — THOS. BLAKELY (Balwyn).

Likes the flavour of Navy life!

"I have only had a taste of Navy life but I like the flavour," says Jack Tehan, of Brisbane, Queensland, now doing his National Service training at Flinders Naval Depot. "I've made up my mind to join the R.A.N. as soon as I can. The food, the quarters, the fresh air and exercise—I could never settle down to an ordinary job. In the Navy I'll get the specialised training I want. I can see that if you're keen you'll have a great chance of promotion. Meanwhile, £9/3/- a week after a few months more training is good pay when you add the value of your keep, kit, and medical and dental attention. I want to get in early, and be prepared if trouble starts."

WAR-TORN MONASTERY REGAINS A TREASURE

Washington, Sunday

A FAMOUS 18th century painting depicting the assumption of the Virgin Mary has been recovered and returned to the Monte Cassino Benedictine Monastery in Italy.

The painting, 9ft. high and 5ft. wide, was the altarpiece for the fifth chapel of the basilica of the monastery.

It was painted by the noted Neapolitan artist, Paolo de Matteis.

The State Department said American officials recovered it in Germany from a former German soldier, who was reported to have found the canvas, badly damaged, among the rubble of the abbey.

The soldier stored it for about four years, and then notified the Monte Cassino abbot.

The monastery, about 100 miles north of Naples, was the scene of bitter fighting between Allied forces and the Germans during World War II.

IN THE CHURCHES

CHRISTMAS TREE BLOOMED AFTER THE NATIVITY PLAY

SUNDAY SCHOOL children told the story of the Nativity in the words of Scripture and song at Collins st. Independent Church yesterday morning. Dressed as Shepherds and Wise Men of the East, they went up the aisles and brought other children down to lay gifts of toys at the Manger for little natives of the Papuan missions. Above: When it was all over, the children crowded on the church steps to admire a large Christmas tree on the lawn.

'CHILD IS CENTRE OF DEMOCRACY'

IF in their impressionable years children could be given a respect for one another regardless of social position, democracy would remain strong, the Rev. Gordon Powell said yesterday.

"Lose that, lose a sense of the importance of every individual child, and democracy would soon be doomed," he said.

Mr. Powell was speaking to a crowded congregation at the morning service in Collins st. Independent Church.

Christ laid the foundation of our way of life when He took a child and set him in the centre of everything, he said.

By taking children up in His arms and blessing them He gave them an entirely new importance for their own sake.

"For the first time in history children of poor parents were gathered together with children of wealthy parents," Mr. Powell said.

"Life of worth"

We could be assured our lives did count if we maintained a vital faith, persevered in a great work, and built for eternity, Mr. E. L. Williams said at Black Rock Church of Christ.

By the simple maintenance of the Christian faith we counted.

As isolated individuals we were insignificant, but when we attached our lives to a cause we lived creatively.

Writing on wall

The scrawls upon walls, heavily painted by partisans in a recent campaign, brought from a visitor recently the comment, "Disfigured Melbourne," Dean Roscoe Wilson said in St. Paul's Cathedral.

But those scrawls, the Dean added, suggested a well-known Bible story, when a scrawl upon a wall frightened, too late, the King at Belschazzar's feast.

People were warned, as they approached the Christmas season, not to let cheerfulness descend to self-indulgence, nor the enjoyment of the pleasures of life to weaken personal responsibility in serious matters.

World's desire

The world ardently desired real brotherhood, for it had shrunk to the dimensions of a neighborhood, the Rev. A. Crichton Barr said at the Scots Church, Collins st.

But brotherhood had not been achieved.

"I believe it is becoming clear that to work for the brotherhood of man and deny the Fatherhood of God, or ignore it, is mere futility," Mr. Barr said.

Text for Today

The Text for Today, which appears each day on page 2 has been selected for this week by the Rev. Claude Woodhouse, of Christ Church, St. Kilda.

Mr. Woodhouse was ordained in 1927, and served in several parishes before going to St. Mark's, Fitzroy. He has been at St. Kilda since 1947.

Police in road smash

Three policemen and a motorist were injured on Saturday night when a police utility truck and a car collided in Elizabeth st., city, near the Haymarket.

Two policemen were admitted to hospital — Constable Alan Groves, 26, of Albert st., Fawkner, in a critical condition with a compound fractured skull, and Senior-constable Patrick Walsh, 30, of Alma st., Maidstone, driver of the utility with a fractured kneecap and ear injuries.

Bert Frid, 34 of Hampton st. Hampton, driver of the car was treated at Royal Melbourne Hospital for lacerations and abrasions.

Other mishaps

William James Rosewarne, 17, of Humevale, near Whittlesea, was killed when his motor-cycle struck a disabled car on the side of the Whittlesea-Kinglake road.

Norman Allen Keys, 35, of Buckley st., Essendon, was killed when a car struck him at the intersection of Mt. Alexander rd. and Russell st., Essendon.

Paul Russell, 9, of Iffla st., South Melbourne, suffered serious internal and head injuries when he was struck by a car.

CRIME SPREE IN CARS

FOUR youths stole a Holden taxi in Collingwood early yesterday — then, within 15 minutes — robbed two radio shops in southern suburbs and escaped in another stolen car.

Shortly after 6 a.m. the youths smashed the window of D. K. Mackintosh's radio shop in Glenhuntly rd., Elsternwick, and escaped in a taxi with two radios and an electric radio valued at £75.

Elsternwick police found bloodstains in the looted window. All public hospitals were asked to watch for any youth seeking treatment for arm or hand cuts.

About five minutes after the Elsternwick robbery police learned that the same taxi had been used in a smash-grab raid on E. E. Merifield's radio shop in Koornang rd., Carnegie.

The youths had smashed the shop window by hurling through it one of the radios stolen earlier at Elsternwick. The youths left this radio in the shattered window, and stole three more sets valued at £90.

At 6.12 a.m., Mrs. D. J. Calcutt, of Manning rd., Malvern, reported the theft of a Holden car from outside her home, and told police that a taxi had been left in its place.

Police found that this taxi was the one the thieves used.

At 7.45 a.m., Mr. Norman Neeson, of Victoria pde., Collingwood, reported that his taxi had been stolen from outside his home during the night. This was the taxi police had recovered at Malvern.

Police yesterday were still searching for the thieves and the other stolen Holden.

Another Church hall burnt down

FIREBUG STARTLES A COUNTRY TOWN

KORUMBURRA residents are alarmed at the activities of a firebug, who is blamed for about a dozen fires in the town in the last 12 months.

So far the firebug has concentrated on public and church buildings, but townspeople fear he may soon start on private homes.

The latest fire occurred on Saturday night, and completely destroyed St. Paul's Parish Hall, in William st. Damage is estimated at £5,000.

The hall had been used for school examinations during the day, but was locked up when the fire started.

The hall was situated next door to St. Andrew's Parish Hall, which was completely burnt out early last January.

St. Andrew's Hall was valued at about £4,000.

A few days after St. Andrew's Hall fire an attempt was made to burn down the kindergarten hall in Queen street, but the fire was extinguished before it got a good hold.

Man seen

A man was seen running away from the hall a few seconds after the fire started.

This year three attempts have been made to set fire to Korumburra High School. Two fires were started inside the school and the other outside.

Senior Constable T. Yuille, of Korumburra, said last night that all the fires had occurred late at night or early in the morning.

"It was so bad early this year that the townspeople formed a special committee and for a time kept all night vigils near the main buildings of the town," he said.

No wool limit on Reds

Russia was entitled to buy as much wool in Australia as it could afford, an Australian Wool Board spokesman said last night.

The spokesman was commenting on a Brisbane report that Russia, through agents, was secretly buying Australian wool to uniform Soviet and satellite forces.

He said: "There is no law preventing Russia from buying wool openly in Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa.

"It would be pointless for Russia to buy secretly where she could buy openly."

The spokesman said that all Russian satellite countries, except Hungary and Rumania, were buying less Australian wool.

Russia had never been a big wool buyer.

Portland gets a fourth riding

Portland, Sunday

After strong agitation in the district, Mr. Byrnes, Public Works Minister, has granted Portland Shire's petition for a re-subdivision.

Heywood will now be the centre of a fourth riding. All sitting councillors will retire next August.

IRONWORKERS WILL SEE FORGED VOTES

Sydney, Sunday

MR. LAURENCE SHORT said today that he would exhibit ballot papers for the Federated Ironworkers Association's 1949 election to members.

"Members can form their own opinions," said Mr. Short, who took over as Federal secretary after the Arbitration Court decided he was beaten in 1949 by forged ballots.

"You won't need to be a writing expert to see evidence of the forgeries," he told members at a meeting of the Newcastle branch, at which the branch ballot was declared.

The ballot put A.L.P. industrial group candidates into all branch and sub-branch positions.

Mr. Short said than when A.L.P. officials took over the affairs of the Newcastle branch, they could not free it entirely from Communist domination because Communists still held national control.

'Straightjacket'

"At times the Communist control of the national office was able to put Newcastle branch in a straitjacket," he said.

"The branch was really only an agency for the national office."

"Our union now stands at the crossroads," said Mr. Short.

"Communists want a depression and they are working for one because they flourish only under conditions of chaos.

"The A.L.P. wants prosperity, stability, and democracy."

MINERS TOO BUSY TO MEET

Sydney, Sunday

Speakers abandoned seven of the fourteen aggregate miners' meetings called on the northern New South Wales coalfields today because less than 10% of the 10,000 northern miners attended.

Union officials said that most miners were "too busy getting ready for Christmas holiday camping trips" to attend.

The miners' northern president (Mr. G. Neilly) abandoned his meeting at Charlestown. Only one miner attended.

The Miners' Federation called the meetings to discuss its national convention's decisions.

The decisions were on hydraulic stowage in old mine workings, extraction of pillar coal, general policy, conditions in the industry, and pensions and compensations.

The seven meetings held endorsed the decisions.

Boom days lived again

The population of Steiglitz, a ghost town high in the Anakie Hills, 26 miles from Geelong, swelled from 20 to 500 during the weekend.

Old miners and former residents and their families went from all over the State to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the discovery of gold in the district.

Mr. K. R. von Stieglitz, a descendant of the early pioneers of the town, came from Tasmania to attend the celebrations.

After lunch in a house that was once Scott's Steiglitz Hotel, and an exhibition of relics in the public hall, Mr. Moss, Minister for Mines, unveiled a stone cairn: "In memory of the pioneers and to the discovery of gold."

Stopped to think on the way over

IT'S my considered opinion that I'm in the clear," was perhaps the flight of thought Ian Brockwell, of Collingwood, had while competing in the "A" grade pole vault at Olympic Park on Saturday. He was right, too—over the bar at 9ft. 6in.

Cyclist injured

Geelong, Saturday

Amiso Mizzan, 27, of Leamington st., Caulfield, sustained a fractured skull and fractured spine on Saturday night when he was thrown from a motor-cycle near the Corio rail crossing.

Farmer was crushed to death by his own truck

A farmer was crushed to death when he was pinned against a garage wall by his truck for more than half an hour at Miga Lake, south-west of Horsham, on Saturday.

His wife, who was in a cowshed near by, could not hear his cries for help because of the noise of a milking machine.

Ernest Gerhard Hausler, 44, was using a crank handle to start the truck, which had apparently been left in gear.

The engine started, and the truck lurched forward, pinning him against the rear wall.

Hausler tried to pull himself on to the radiator, but the truck, with the engine still running, maintained its pressure.

His cries for help were not heard until his wife switched off the milking machine in the cowshed.

Mrs. Hausler ran into the garage and found her husband slumped semi-conscious over the radiator of the truck.

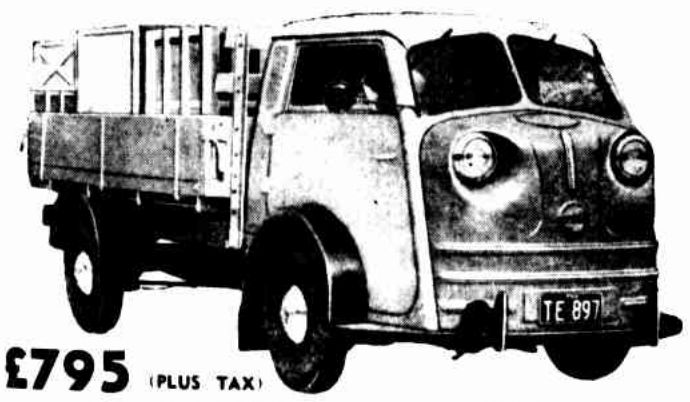

He gasped: "Switch off the engine, put her out of gear, and push her back."

Mrs. Hausler stopped the engine and freed the gears, but could not move the truck because the spinning rear wheels had become deeply embedded in the dirt floor of the garage.

The Hausler's 10-year-old son ran half a mile to the nearest neighbors, who returned in a car and towed the truck out of the garage.

Hausler, his chest badly crushed, collapsed on the garage floor, and died a few minutes later.

REPRESENTATIVE TO U.N.O.

U.S. woman lawyer here on visit

MISS JOSEPHINE SCHAIN, a lawyer whose main interest is international affairs, arrived in Melbourne from New York on Saturday.

Miss Schain will preside at the Pan Pacific Women's Conference, to be held in Christchurch, New Zealand, from January 11 to 25.

Leaving New York last May, Miss Schain has travelled by freighter, plane, passenger ship, and train through the Philippines, Japan, Thailand, India, and Malaya.

In those countries she visited women's organisations which will send delegates to the Pan Pacific conference.

Miss Schain is well versed in international committee procedure. She was the only woman at the first conference of the Food and Agriculture Organisation of the United Nations when it met in the United States during the war.

In earlier years, when she was doing social work in New York, Miss Schain visited Geneva every September when the League of Nations met.

She has recently been appointed liaison representative of women's international organisations to U.N.O.

WEEKEND PARTIES

A COMBINED barbecue and tennis exhibition yesterday attracted more than 400 guests to Surrey Lodge, Emerald, the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Sangster.

It was organised by Mesdames E. M. Cornfoot and John Blair, presidents of the Toorak and Junior Toorak auxiliaries of the Women's Hospital respectively, to raise funds for the hospital.

IN honor of Miss Ann Halliday, who will marry Mr. William Sayers early in the New Year, her bridesmaids-to-be, Misses Margaret Halliday and Dorothy Ninnes, gave a kitchen tea at the latter's home in Elsternwick on Saturday afternoon.

OVER 60 guests attended a musical party at Ilion, Highton grove, Balwyn, on Saturday evening, when Mr. M. J. Pettigrove entertained members of the Meistersingers Male Choir to celebrate their 18th season of visits to hospital patients at Christmas time.

AS a house-warming for their new home, The Ranch, Notting Hill, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Tindall gave a cocktail party yesterday.

● LEFT: A lace crinoline gown was worn by Mrs. Raymond Forbes, formerly Kathleen Clara Ellis, for her wedding at Wesley Church, Lonsdale st., city.

THE marriage of Helen Mary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Colwell, Essendon, to Jack Macmichael, second son of Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Armour, Essendon, was celebrated at St. Thomas' Church of England, Moonee Ponds.

The bride's white faille frock had a silver and bead embroidered panel from neck to hem, and was mist by tulle veil falling from pearl tiara.

She was attended by two sisters-in-law as matrons of honor, Mrs. Isobel Colwell and Mrs. Jean McDonald, one in pink ballerina frock and the other in blue, with duchesse lace bodices and tulle skirts.

Mr. Neil Armour was best man and Dr. John Appleford groomsman.

French brocade

A MAGNOLIA French brocade frock was worn with a long tulle veil by Constance Edith, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Hull, Hawthorn, for her marriage to Charles Alan, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Morrison, Camberwell, at St. John's Church of England, East Malvern.

She was attended by Mrs. Iris Cook and Miss Bernice Mitchell, wearing pale blue French brocade bolero-finished frocks, and matching picture hats. Mr. Douglas Hull was best man, and Mr. John Whitcher groomsman.

Chapel ceremony

A CLASSICAL frock of white faille was worn with a finger-tip veil by Jennifer, only daughter of the late Mr. A. G. Smith and Mrs. Smith, Ivanhoe, for her marriage to John, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Walker, East Ivanhoe, at Wesley College Chapel.

She was attended by Misses Helen Mair and Patricia Stagg, in pale silvery green moire faille, and the groom had Mr. Andrew Adamson as best man and Mr. John Mountford as groomsman.

Sunday marriage

A SUNDAY wedding was chosen by Freda Patricia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Budworth, East Melvern, for her marriage yesterday to Michael James, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. J. McKew, at Holy Eucharist Church, North Murrumbeena.

The bride, who was attended by Misses Faye Mahon and Pauline Stott, wore a lace gown over satin with a coronet of orange blossom.

Messrs. John Barry and Bill Bond attended the groom. A reception was held at Everly, East Malvern.

Canberra ceremony

MISS Jean Kelly, a member of the Canadian High Commissioner's staff, and Flight-Lieutenant Albert George Rainey, of R.A.A.F. Headquarters, Melbourne, were married at St. John's Church of England, Canberra, on Saturday.

Archdeacon Davies, padre at Fairbairn R.A.A.F. Station, performed the ceremony, which was followed by a reception given by Mr. C. Fraser Elliott, Canadian High Commissioner, and Mrs. Fraser Elliott at their home in Mugga Way.

The bride, well known in Canberra diplomatic circles, has been in Australia almost three years, and comes from Pincher Creek, Alberta, Canada.

Flight-Lieutenant Rainey has just returned from London, where he attended a special course on aerodrome control.

The bride wore a pastel blue frock with a bouffant net skirt and a tight-fitting lame jacket. Her veil was of blue tulle attached to a blue lame coronet.

She was attended by Miss Betty Yates, of Canberra and Melbourne.

Lace over satin

A FROCK of white lace over satin and a long tulle veil were worn by Marion Josie, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Godkin, McKinnon, for her marriage to Leonard Walter, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Ratcliffe, Maryborough, at St. Mary's Church of England, Caulfield.

The bridesmaid, Miss Ada Ratcliffe, wore pink net over taffetas, and the best man was Mr. Fred Russell.

Embroidered veil

COBURG Presbyterian Church was the setting for the marriage of Loris, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Weaver, Coburg, to Harold Keith, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Evans, Geelong.

The bride's white lace frock was worn with an embroidered veil, and she was attended by Miss Marlene Lloyd, bridesmaid, and Betty Houbert, flower girl, in mauve lace and tulle. Mr. Wallace Beattie was best man.

Schroeder at top in gusty conditions

VETERAN CLINCHES 5-0 VICTORY

By JACK KRAMER, U.S. Davis Cup coach

America's Ted Schroeder brought out his best courtcraft to swamp Swede Sven Davidson in the Davis Cup inter-zone final at Kooyong on Saturday.

Schroeder won 6-2, 6-2, 6-1, and completed America's rout of Sweden.

Last Tuesday I "went out on a limb" and predicted that America would win all five rubbers.

Well, I was right, but I can't brag about it, for I knew Schroeder and Tony Trabert were in pretty good form.

Trabert on Saturday beat Lennart Bergelin 6-1, 10-8, 6-4.

A gale-force wind blowing across the court made tennis exceedingly difficult.

Under such conditions you can only hit the ball and pray for luck, but at least the play proved once again that the American serve-volley game is unsurpassable in any conditions.

Now Schroeder is a master at that game, and Davidson, with his back-court game, had less chance than normally against him.

I don't think Davidson had ever played against a man like Schroeder before.

Read his mind

I could read his mind wondering what could be done to keep Schroeder away from the net.

Well, I'll give him the answer free. When Schroeder is playing right, as he did on Saturday, there is no way.

It was a smart move for Schroeder to ask referee Bill Barnett for permission to wear spikes, because in the previous match he had seen Trabert slip on the damp surface around the court.

He played wonderful tennis, although he served a few doubles. This is understandable in such winds weather.

My statistician reported that Davidson had served 14 double faults and dropped his service on six successive occasions.

That alone will give you an idea of the difficulties the gale caused.

The wind affected Trabert much more than it did Schroeder.

Trabert was under instructions to attack Bergelin's backhand, on which we had discovered his weakness.

It was very difficult to maintain perfection on such and attack, and often the wind curled the ball across to Bergelin's vicious forehand, with drastic results to Trabert.

I will admit that Bergelin's form was much improved from that of the previous two days of the match, and it was good to see him making a fight of it.

GOOD COMPANIONSHIP after the race is shown by Joan Hams, of S.A., when she congratulated Marlene Smith, of Victoria, after she had won the girls' 75 yards under 18 event.

E. R. Schroeder (U.S.) d. S. Davidson (Sweden), 6-2, 6-2, 6-1.

FINAL SCORES

U.S.A., 5 rubbers, 15 sets, 107 games.

SWEDEN, 0 rubber, 1 set, 57 games.

Hard work for both Cup teams

Saturday was not a rest day for the Australian Davis Cup team.

As soon as the inter-zone final between America and Sweden was over, Harry Hopman, Australian non-playing captain, had the squad out doing road work.

They ran three miles and then finished off with five or six hard sprints.

Frank Shields, U.S. captain, said after the last match on Saturday that the Americans now faced the most serious part of their task.

It would be hard work and no fun from now until the end of the Challenge Round, Shields added. — KEN MOSES.

Schroeder fights for Cup berth

By KEN MOSES

VETERAN American Ted Schroeder proved on Saturday he would be the player to beat for selection in the U.S. team for the Challenge Round in Sydney on December 26.

But, on the other hand, Tony Trabert made it obvious he would have to fight for a place in the American team.

In his straight-sets win over Sven Davidson, of Sweden, Schroeder showed a determination that proved he could not be overlooked as a singles player.

On Saturday he went on to the court prepared for business.

And when he had finished with Davidson, Frank Shields, U.S. captain, was very impressed.

Davidson was playing his last big tennis match, and his clash with Schroeder was expected to be the match of the inter-zone final.

Davidson will return to Sweden early next week. He will then retire from big tennis to concentrate on his civil engineering future.

However, in his game against Schroeder it appeared he had his racquet halfway towards the hook.

He did not have his doubles vim of Friday, and Schroeder made the most of his disinclination to fight back.

Schroeder played as if his match was the last of a two-all series.

He had two enemies on the court—Davidson and the erratic wind.

He mastered the wind first and then Davidson.

Both players found difficulty with their service. Davidson served 13 double faults and Schroeder eight.

However, Schroeder quickly realised it was better to serve on a rising ball than one falling. His double-fault average collapsed immediately.

Both were afraid of their opponent's return of service. Because of this, their second service was often more venomous than their first, which added to the double tally.

It was a match of broken services, particularly in the second set, when Schroeder broke through four times to Davidson's two to take the set 6-2.

In the third set Schroeder gave no quarter, and volleyed and smashed his opponent out of the game.

Trabert's match against Lennart Bergelin was one of the dullest ever seen in a Davis Cup series.

Looked player

Trabert played with little vigor, and at times Bergelin, who is still far from his top, looked like a player.

Whether Trabert was fooling or suffering from a "we have won" complex is under question.

However, he will have to do a lot better in practice in the next 10 days to show Shields he is worth a singles berth for the vital Challenge Round.

Bergelin played a lot better than he did in the doubles on Friday. But it was Trabert's disinterested attitude towards the game that helped him.

There were glimpses of the real Bergelin, particularly in the second set.

He broke Trabert's service in the first game and set the standard for a set of broken services. Trabert broke Bergelin's next service, held his own, then broke Bergelin's again in the fourth.

Bergelin retaliated by breaking Trabert's service in the fifth game. Trabert then broke through in the sixth.

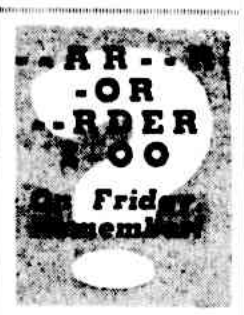

Game lapsed

From then on the game lapsed, with both playing like pennant finalists on a bad day.

It was not until the 18th game of an indifferent match that Trabert broke through to take the second set 10-8.

At times Bergelin actually moved about the court and played some excellent ground strokes to catch Trabert flat-footed.

However, the flashes of good play were short-lived.

You will be whisked from the haunts of the underworld to the glamor of the film studio in a fascinating holiday special which will begin in "The Argus" next Friday.

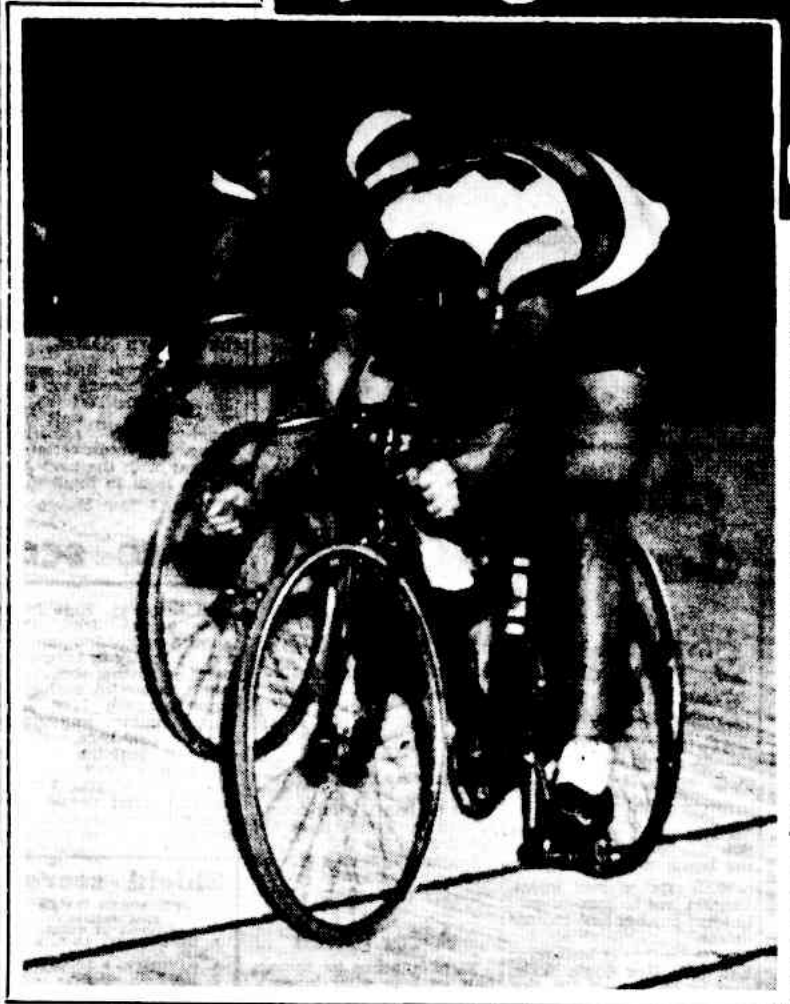

Be sure to follow this great double - feature attraction. It includes a novel contest which may bring you a handsome cash prize!

PATTERSON DOWNS GUYATT

Cycling aces thrill huge crowd

By RON TAYLOR

In one of the most stirring match races ever seen in Australia, international cycling ace, Sid Patterson, defeated national track champion, Billy Guyatt, in straight heats, at the North Essendon board track on Saturday night.

Guyatt, who had not lost a match race since turning professional in 1949, was magnificent in defeat. He lost the first heat by inches and the second by half a wheel.

The record crowd of 7,000 cheered both riders to the echo.

While there can be no detraction from Patterson's brilliant riding, Guyatt's mental outlook to the race contributed as much to his defeat as Patterson's superlative sprinting.

Nervous

Before the first heat he was extremely nervous, while Patterson wore his usual happy-go-lucky smile.

Guyatt proved the best tactician in the first heat, gradually working Patterson up towards the outside fence. Then with Patterson in trouble and almost over the fence with a lap to go, Guyatt gave a lightning thrust and shot three lengths clear.

Guyatt was still 1¼ lengths in front as they entered the straight with about 75 yards to go, but inch by inch Patterson pegged him back to flash over the line a quarter of a wheel to the good.

The time for the last furlong, 12.4, was the fastest ever recorded at the board track.

Too soon

Guyatt said afterwards he became excited as he approached the last furlong and made his sprint too soon.

The second heat was all Patterson's.

Guyatt rode a negative race, being content to take Patterson's wheel at the bell lap in the hope of smothering the champion with a last-minute "flyer."

Patterson again registered an inches win over Guyatt in the Aces' scratch race, but the decision met with a mixed reception from the crowd.

After the match race Guyatt challenged Patterson to a return contest, and this has been arranged for January 5.

CHATSPA CUP RUN IN DOUBT

By JACK ELLIOTT

A START for Chatspa in the Port Adelaide Cup will not be decided upon until after he works at Flemington on Tuesday.

He has dropped from second favoritism to equal fourth favoritism following his defeat in the Benevolent Fund Handicap on Saturday.

Double Blank is still at the top of the list.

If Chatspa makes the trip he will leave by float late in the week.

Adelaide jockey, Pat Glennon, will have the mount.

Mr. O. R. Porter said yesterday that Chatspa's stablemate, Merry Scout, would not visit Adelaide.

Two train well

Desert Warrior and Free Kick are reported to have done remarkably well in preparation for their Adelaide trip.

Desert Warrior is third favorite for the seven furlongs Christmas Handicap on December 26—first leg of the double.

Free Kick is second favorite for the Cup, one mile and seven furlongs, run two days later.

A. Breasley is likely to ride both horses, but if he does not accept the mounts, they will be offered to W. Williamson.

Cellarman is favorite for the Christmas Handicap, slightly shading St. Comedy.

Barrier positions play a big part in this race, and if St. Comedy draws well, he could displace Cellarman as favorite.

D. Graetz has been engaged for Cellarman and W. Stocker for St. Comedy.

Melbourne jockey, Ron Hutchinson, will make a special trip to ride King Comedy in the Cup.

King Comedy is equal third favorite with Moya.

Same rider

Double Blank, third place getter in the Melbourne Cup, is a clear-cut favorite, two points shorter than Free Kick.

Apprentice jockey, W. Pyers, who rode Double Blank in the Melbourne Cup, has been engaged for the ride.

Following is the order of favoritism:

CHRISTMAS HANDICAP
Seven Furlongs. £2,500.
DECEMBER 26.
Cellarman.
St. Comedy.
Desert Warrior.
Gay Donna, Pharion.
Beau Avion, Pennydale.
Beau Mains, Glen Yarra.

PORT ADELAIDE CUP
One Mile and Seven Furlongs. £5,000.
DECEMBER 28.
Double Blank.
Free Kick.
King Comedy, Moya.
Chatspa, Chievely.
Portlad, Dark Banner.

TRARALGON RACES POSTPONED

Rain caused the postponement of Traralgon races from Saturday until tomorrow.

Mr. Reg Collier, secretary of the club, said yesterday that bookmakers who had paid their fees for Saturday would receive a refund, and new applications would be called.

Bookmakers wishing to field tomorrow must advise Mr. Frank Harding, bookmakers' supervisor, by 3 p.m. today.

Sir Dallas receives Sir Dallas

Sir Dallas, winner of the first race at Flemington on Saturday, was the happiest horse in Fred Hoysted's stable at Mentone yesterday.

He had just received a congratulatory vice-regal pat on the head from the Governor, Sir Dallas Brooks.

Mr. S. L. Calvert, owner of Sir Dallas, received special permission from the Governor to name the colt after him.

On Saturday Sir Dallas Brooks had a small investment on the colt, which was having his first start in a race.

Sir Dallas started favorite and led all the way to win comfortably.

Sir Dallas Brooks was very interested in Hoysted's large string of two-year-olds, and had a good look around the famous training stables. — TOM MOON.

EXTRA TROT ADDED

Showgrounds night trotting will be extended to eight races a meeting from January 5 onwards.

The additional race is intended to eliminate heavy balloting and provide more races for young horses.

Mr. Alan Dunn, secretary of the Trotting Control Board, said on Saturday night the starting and finishing times for the programme — 7.30 and 10.30 — would remain unchanged.

Intervals between races will be shortened.

The move will cost the board £12,600 more in stake money.

The total for this season is £84,650 — an all-time record.—BILL HEALY.

'Low-down' on Tony's play

AMERICAN Tony Trabert plays a low forcing backhand in the second set of his Davis Cup inter-zone final match against Swede, Lennart Bergelin, at Kooyong on Saturday. Although Tony defeated Lennart 6-1, 10-8, 6-4, his form was below his standard on the first day of the final

'Keeper shines against Indies

MUNRO WILL REACH TEST SIDE

By English Test Star, ALEC BEDSER
As told to JACK CANNON

Perth, Sunday

I AM convinced that 22-year-old John Munro will soon be wearing the wicketkeeper's gloves for Australia.

From an international point of view, Munro's wicketkeeping has been the only bright spot in the West Indies-Western Australia match.

I would not hesitate to say that, at present, he is as efficient and far more polished than the Test 'keeper, Gil Langley. He is a cut above the young 'keepers in the eastern States.

On his form this season, Munro has become top candidate for the Test job, but he will have to wait until Langley does something wrong. He seems certain to go away with the next Australian team to England.

When I saw Munro last year, he looked very promising, but I did not guess he would improve so much in such a short time.

He has all the mannerisms of Don Tallon at his best and, like Don, he is tall and slim and able to use his good reach to swoop on low balls yet fly high for the kickers.

It is a pity the Westerners do not have a top class spin bowler for Munro to work with, although he could not be faulted either up close, or standing back, in this game.

Apart from Munro and, perhaps, the pace bowlers, who seemed to mesmerise the batsmen, the general standard of cricket in this match has not been worth watching. All batsmen, apart from Clyde Walcott, have been unenterprising and devoid of technique. Even Walcott's innings was marred by a couple of chances.

More scalps

On Saturday, West Indies quick bowler John Trim, followed up his fine performance of Friday by taking the scalps of another three batsmen. He bowled unchanged throughout the West Australian innings and maintained a good pace.

But if criticism can be levelled at a bowler who has taken seven wickets, I would say that Trim should have been more economical. Five runs an over is too much for any bowler to give away in international cricket. Many more runs would have been scored if the batsmen had not stayed anchored to their creases.

Valentine rests

Probably the player who appreciated Trim's efforts most was spin bowler Alf Valentine, who was given a vacation from the attack. It must have been a strange experience for Val, who usually bears the brunt of his team's bowling.

The low scores in this match have been caused primarily by the pace of the wicket. Instead of having the usual easy paced wickets, batsmen have found the ball racing at them too quickly to make position for forcing shots.

It does my heart good to see the ball shooting off the wicket at a good pace. I am sure a general speeding up of wickets would lead to better stroke play and batsmen without true ability would not stay long when the ball was rising at them. Such impostor batsmen can get runs on the present style, easy paced, wickets.

Trabert made No. 1 in shock seeding

New York, Sunday

TONY TRABERT, 20-year-old Davis Cup player, is recommended as America's 1951 No. 1 tennis player in a sensational list issued by the U.S.L.T.A. ranking committee today.

Tennis experts believe the recommendation will cause wide controversy.

Trabert, although established among the highest class players, has won only a few tournament titles. He has not won a national title.

The committee makes another surprising choice — it ranks Victor Seixas No. 2 in preference to Dick Savitt.

Savitt, as 1951 Wimbledon and Australia title holder, is thus considered to have been given short shrift by the committee.

Seixas defeated Savitt in a semi-final of the United States singles championship last September, but Savitt at the time was seriously handicapped by a leg infection.

The ranking committee has protected itself by reserving the privilege of recommending changes in the ranking if play in Australia up to, and including the Davis Cup matches, provides fresh evidence of 1951 form.

Not official

The U.S.L.T.A. annual meeting will consider the recommendations on January 19. The rankings will therefore not become official until the meeting votes on them.

Seventeen-year-old Maureen Connolly is ranked No. 1 by the women's ranking committee.

Miss Doris Hart, Wimbledon champion, is given No. 2 berth.

Mrs. Margaret Osborne Dupont and Miss Louise Brough, who have dominated the rankings for the past few years, are not ranked "because of insufficient data."

Recommended men's rankings are:

1, Tony Trabert; 2, Vic Seixas; 3, Dick Savitt; 4, Herbert Flam; 5, Art Larsen; 6, Frederick (Ted) Schroeder; 7, Gardnar Mulloy; 8, Hamilton Richardson; 10, Budge Patty.

Missed chances save day in N.S.W.

Sydney, Sunday

SEVERAL missed chances by New South Wales allowed Victoria to fight back strongly in the Shield game at the Sydney Cricket-ground yesterday.

At stumps Victoria had scored 4/189 in reply to New South Wales' first innings total of 449.

Fieldsmen dropped at least five catches yesterday, and the lapses proved costly.

With six wickets intact, Victoria will be hard-pressed to avert another first-innings defeat.

In the match at Melbourne last week New South Wales won by 99 runs on the first innings.

The traditional grimness of N.S.W.-Victoria Shield clashes was evident in this game. Pace bowlers of both sides sent down many short-pitched bumpers.

New South Wales will have the advantage of a new ball when play resumes tomorrow. This will be a danger period for the Victorian batsmen.

Victorian opening batsman George Thoms was 63 n.o. when play finished yesterday. He had been at the wickets 194 minutes.

Dropped twice

The dour Victorian was dropped at 19 and 36 in what proved costly mistakes for N.S.W.

Other missed catches nullified some hostile bowling from Keith Miller and Alan Walker.

Young Ray Flockton struck a valuable blow for N.S.W. when he had Loxton caught behind by Trueman in the last over of the day.

Loxton had scored 21, and had added 26 in the fourth-wicket partnership with Thoms.

After lunch

Victoria began its innings half an hour after lunch.

With regular opener Colin McDonald ill, Australian skipper, Lindsay Hassett, opened with Thoms.

Hassett had an amazing run of luck before he was caught by Sid Barnes off Miller's bowling when 14. In Miller's first over Hassett snicked fiery deliveries to Benaud at second slip and to 'keeper Trueman.

Miller was rewarded for a magnificent burst of bowling when Barnes caught Hassett in slips.

Left-hander Neil Harvey batted attractively for 46, including four boundaries, in 84 minutes, before he was caught by Benaud off Miller.

Most impressive of the Victorians was youthful left-hander John Chambers. He showed good strokes, and hooked bumpers from Miller with plenty of courage.

Joan Morrison is star of State team

EMPIRE GAMES representative Joan Morrison, of Coburg, is the star of the State women's athletics team for the Australian Carnival in January.

After trials on Saturday she was selected to compete in four events—the 220 yards, broad jump, shot putt, and high jump.

Winsome Cripps will be Victoria's main sprint "hope."

Although she suffered her first defeat for the season in the final of the 220 yards on Saturday, her heat time of 26.9sec. was the best of the day.

Bernice Kewming (V.R.I.), who won the 220 final, will represent Victoria in that event. She was named also as emergency for the 100 yards.

Jeanette Joy (University), former Australian discus record holder, has only to reproduce her practice form to win the event at the championships.

In practice recently she threw 132ft.

The team is:

100 Yards: W. Cripps (E.S.), J. Hanger (Cwood), J. Ramsay (E.S.), B. Kewming (V.R.I.), emergency, 220: W. Cripps, B. Kewming (V.R.I.), J. Morrison (Coburg), J. Hanger (Cwood), emergency. 440 Yards: B. Woods (E.S.), B. Kewming (V.R.I.), N. Hopkins (Fscray). Javelin: C. McGibbon (V.R.I.), R. Rae (St. Kilda), W. Rose (Elwood). Broad Jump: J. Morrison (Cob.), M. Mitchell (Melb.), J. Fowler (V.R.I.). Discus: J. Joy (Uni.), C. McGibbon (V.R.I.), I. Engel (Uni.). Shot Putt, B. Cantelas (Coburg), J. Morrison (Cob.), C. McGibbon (V.R.I.). High Jump: J. Morrison (Cob.), M. Middlemas (V.R.I.), K. Coffey (V.R.I.). Hurdles: W. Rose (Elwood), I. Engel (Uni.), D. Rose (Coburg).—NELL RAWLINS.

Batsmen fail Footscray

Excellent performance by Footscray's bowlers in dismissing Prahran for 120 runs in District cricket on Saturday was ruined later by the team's batting collapse.

At stumps, Footscray had lost 7 25. With only three wickets in hand the side needs 96 runs to win.

Bill Kinnear's decision to send in Prahran paid dividends, and the side was routed in two hours.

However, when Footscray lost 7 25 in only 65 minutes' batting, Prahran had taken over the winning grip on the match.

Young star

Star of the Footscray attack was young, medium-paced bowler, Arthur Dean. After taking 5/12 off 5.3 overs, he finished with 5/35 from 12.3 overs.

Prahran used only three bowlers — Tom Hinton 3/10, Ken Pennington 2/5, and Col. Hyland 2/9.

In the Hawthorn - East Melbourne innings against Richmond, openers Alan Dick and Lew Green laid a solid foundation with an 86 partnership.

Others took the score on to 3/141.

Carlton closed its innings against University at 5/179, then went on to take four University wickets for 48.

There was no play in games at Collingwood, Northcote, South Melbourne, and St. Kilda. — JACK DUNN.

N.S.W. TAKE TEST RACE

Sydney, Sunday

Victorians Ron Rawlins and John Williams were yesterday beaten into second place in the Olympic Games double sculls test race on the Nepean River.

The test was won by Murray Riley and John Rodgers, of Sydney Rowing Club.

Sydney, who led the Mercantile-Melbourne combination all the way, rowed away at the finish to win by one and a quarter lengths.

A. Eddie-R. Webb, of Haberfield, were third another length behind.

Riley said tactics learned from world sculling champion, Merv Wood, helped him and Rodgers win the race.

Riley and Wood won the Empire Games double sculls title in Auckland in 1948.

Wind ends record attempts

Poor weather conditions hampered attempts by leading Victorian athletes on Olympic selection standards at Olympic Park on Saturday.

Although no standards were broken, some good times, particularly in the middle distance events, were recorded.

John Landy (Geelong) ran the fastest 880 of the day in his division of the A grade event.

He was close-pressed by Dave White (Sandringham) throughout, and won by two and a half yards in 1min. 55.7sec.

Les Perry, National three-miles title holder, failed in an attempt on the three miles and 5,000 metres standards.

He completed the three miles in 14min. 38.3sec., and said the wind had been "far too fierce" for a record-breaking run.

First members of the Victorian team to compete in the Australian championships at Brisbane in January were named during the afternoon.

They were: Don Macmillan (middle distance), John Landy (middle distance), Bob Prentice (marathon), Peter Gardner (hurdles), Bruce Peever (pole vault), Ken Doubleday (hurdles), John Vernon (high jump), and Les Perry (distance runner).

The team may be added to during the next few weeks.

Yarra ends long run of outs

For the first time in 55 years Yarra Yarra Rowing Club won a Victorian rowing title — the junior fours championship — on the Henley course on Saturday.

In sculling championships Yarra Yarra had a period of uninterrupted success from 1930-31 to 1939-40, but the last time a Yarra Yarra crew crossed the line first in a championship race with oars was in the champion eights of 1896.

Rough water, whipped up by a strong southerly, made the 2,000-metre course on the lower Yarra too "chancy" on Saturday afternoon. Rather than risk a swamping fiasco, the V.R.A. transferred the three championships — open, junior, and lightweight fours — to the temporary Henley course.

In the heats of the senior and junior championships Banks and Corio Bay checked Mercantile's run of success in these divisions.

The Melbourne-Preston four first composite crew to ever race in a Victorian championship, was beaten by Banks by only 3ft. in the senior championship final. The composite crew hung to Banks grimly from the start, and then threw away its chance of a win by leaving its run too late. — HAROLD BALFE.

UNION STILL ON TOP

Richmond Union strengthened its hold on the senior section leadership by defeating Coburg in a pennant bowls match on Saturday.

Coburg was on the defensive from the start, and Richmond won well.

Consistent teamwork gave Defilly's (R. Un.) rink a lead of 7-1, 23-3, and 34-6. Hooper (Cob.) could score only 11 shots in the eight ends he won. He lost 42 in the others.

Wood (R. Un.) held an early lead of 19-9 and moved to 24-11 at the 17th end. However, Hall (Cob.) made a good recovery and added 1,3,0,1,1,2,3,3 to finish 25-29.

Match squared

Pusley (Cob.) was a difficult opponent. He led 8-2 and 12-4. Bruton (R. Un.) reached 12-13, but Coburg went away again. Bruton's finishing break of 1,4,2 squared a hard-fought match at 22.

Merrigan (R. Un.) went to an early lead of 17-8 and 21-9. A period of serial exchanges was followed by Merrigan holding 34-17.

By winning all six of its matches, Middle Park joined the select company of clubs to have a complete "victory" day.

Surprises of the day were the defeat of Alphington, Kew, and Northcote, but Malvern scored its first win at the expense of Cheltenham.—BANKER.

Moonpath by a head

CAMERA AGAIN TRICKS CROWD

The photo - camera again tricked racegoers when it showed Moonpath the winner of the Benefit Handicap at Flemington on Saturday.

Bookmakers and backers both thought Varemba, on the inside rail, had lasted long enough to beat Moonpath, which finished under the judge's box.

It was possible to get as much as 4/1 about Moonpath while waiting for the photo-chart to go to the judge.

The photo print showed that Moonpath had beaten Varemba by a clear head.

The heavily backed favorite, Neat Wha, was a moderate third.

Moonpath started at 14/1 and gave the bookmakers a good result.

Moonpath broke a long run of outs for Caulfield trainer Basil Conaghan.

It was the colt's second run since being taken over by Conaghan.

Regal name

HEADING FOR HOME Sir Dallas races to the front, down the rails on the grandstand side, to win the Maroondah Handicap from St. Joel by three quarters of a length at Flemington on Saturday. The horse was named after the Governor (Sir Dallas Brooks), and was having his first race.

Sir Dallas adds to record

By TOM MOON

TRAINER F. W. Hoysted improved his record of two-year-old successes when Sir Dallas won the Maroondah Plate at Flemington on Saturday.

Sir Dallas gave Hoysted his 11th two-year-old win this season.

In the 1948-1949 racing year Hoysted created a record with youngsters when he won 19 races.

Sir Dallas, which is by Empyrean from Viennese, is a half brother to Ungar and Usage which were both trained by Hoysted.

Sir Dallas had obviously been well tried, and although the stable did not back him heavily, he firmed from 2/1 to 10/9, after opening at 5/4.

Led all way

W. Williamson rode Sir Dallas out of the barrier smartly, and he led all the way.

Mr. Calvert has had several offers for Sir Dallas, including one of £5,000.

He was also offered £3,000 for a half share in the colt.

Sir Dallas had to overcome a hoodoo to win on Saturday.

It was the first win Mr. Calvert has had at headquarters, although he has raced scores of horses there.

When told that Sir Dallas was a short priced favorite for the race Mr. Calvert said: "Well, I hope he can win, but in my ownership he should be at least 10/1 at Flemington."

Spent £70,000

Mr. Calvert has spent well over £70,000 in trying to secure a good horse.

He has paid big prices for yearlings, proved horses, and all types of gallopers, but most of them have been disappointing.

When Vanacara scored at Moonee Valley about a year ago he won his first race in the metropolitan area.

Sir Dallas is engaged in the Holiday Stakes at Caulfield on Boxing Day, and either he or Anglo Saxon will represent the Hoysted stable in that event.

Eltham sports postponed

Eltham sports meeting, which was postponed on Saturday, will be held on December 22.

Heavy rain on Saturday morning caused officials to decide at 10.30 a.m. to postpone the meeting.

Injured Beau Dorell wins hectic finish

Beau Dorell (Tas.) gave one of the gamest performances ever seen at the Showground to win the Nepean Handicap on Saturday night.

Beau Dorell sprained his off-front suspensory ligament six furlongs from home, but battled on gamely to win in a sensational finish.

In the final stages of the race Beau Dorell was challenged a number of times, but fought back tenaciously to beat Bar Raid by half a head.

Vin Pronto was a similar distance away third.

Not serious

Dr. G. G. Heslop, veterinary surgeon, examined Beau Dorell after the race. He said the injury was not serious, but was amazed the horse was able to continue in the race with such a painful injury.

Hatteras, which led all the way to win the Kardella Handicap, qualified for the £2,500 A. G. Hunter Cup on December 29.

Hatteras started favorite, and defeated Tivoli Star by two yards.

The only favorite to fail was Pleasant Bob, which broke badly at the start and missed a place in the Cassell Handicap.

K. H. Edwards, driver of Huon Vin in the Hudson Encourage Stakes, had his licence suspended for one month for careless driving.—BILL HEALY.

V.R.C. steward appointed

Mr. Frank Bullock has been appointed to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. Norman Faulkiner as V.R.C. stipendiary steward.

Mr. Bullock has been an assistant to the stewards for some years.

Mr. Harold Saker has been promoted from assistant to senior steward for the V.R.C. outside the suburban radius.

London, Sunday

Victorian professional sprinter Eric Cumming will be virtual scratch man in the famous Powderhall 130 yards sprint at Edinburgh on January 1 and 2.

POTENTATE HOOTED AFTER EASY WIN

Punters shocked by reversal

By JACK ELLIOTT

POTENTATE staged an amazing reversal of form by winning the Benevolent Fund Handicap at Flemington on Saturday.

On returning to scale, Potentate and jockey, P. Simonds, were hooted by all sections of the crowd.

On Saturday Potentate appeared in a winning position a long way from home.

A fortnight previously Potentate had a poor race in the Noble Park Handicap at Flemington.

Every chance

Although he appeared to have every chance in running in that race, he did not show any dash.

On that occasion he drifted to 4/1 after opening at 5/2.

owever, on Saturday he was steady in the market and started at 11/2.

Course bookmakers said after the race that Potentate's win took a lot of money out of the ring.

Off the course operators also reported heavy losses.

Potentate was in the "box seat" all the way, and when Simonds asked him for an effort shortly after entering the straight, he dashed away with an unbeatable lead.

Rider fumbled

Although Simonds fumbled for his whip a furlong from home, it made no difference to the result.

Chilperic, which has been trying to win a race for a long time, was travelling like a winner at the top of the straight, but died on his run to the post.

It was his best run for some time, and he could win a weak handicap race in the next few weeks.

Chatspa had every chance, and although he made a dash at the leader soon after the straight was entered, he failed to run on.

Chatspa started favorite at 5/2 and was heavily

His big weight of 9.9 anchored him over the final furlong.

Darke withdrawn from selection

Sydney, Sunday

Champion Australian freestyle swimmer Barry Darke will not be available for selection for the Olympic Games next year, coach Tom Penny said yesterday.

Darke was considered almost certain of selection because of outstanding performances last season.

Penny said Darke's parents agreed with his decision.

LOSER IRKS CROWD

By JACK O'BRIEN

While Arnside was being cheered for his win in the Catani Handicap at Flemington on Saturday, his stablemate Prince De Conde was being hooted at Bendigo.

Prince De Conde started 5/2 on favorite in the Three and Four Year old Handicap (6f.) and was beaten a head by the moderate performer, Capias.

Prince De Conde had not started for over four months and looked in need of the run.

Although he appeared to race kindly, he was in a pigish mood.

It took a good five minutes to get him to leave the weighing enclosure, during which time he dislodged his rider.

Stewards severely reprimanded Box for riding an ill-judged race, but took into account his earlier fall.

Capais was the first leg of a father and son double.

He is trained by Deniliquin trainer J. C. Watters and was ridden by his 15 year old son Jim.

The Watters were also associated with White Top, winner of the Welter Handicap.

RAIN NO WORRY

IN DRENCHING RAIN, interstate school boys and girls held their first national title carnival at North Hobart oval on Saturday. Here J. Armstrong, of N.S.W., wins the 100 yards under 18 event. Victoria's Marlene Smith, also in the picture, came third.

JUNIOR BEAT EVEN HER SENIORS

Hobart, Sunday

FOURTEEN-YEAR-OLD Norma Austin, of South Australia, ran brilliantly to eclipse even senior competitors at the interstate schools national title meeting at North Hobart Oval on Saturday.

Her 100 yards in 11.3 seconds to win the under 16 event was .4 second faster than the under 18 time, and her 75 yards in 8.9 seconds was .1 second faster than the senior event.

And the meeting was held in drenching rain, with competitors racing through puddles and patches of mud.

New South Wales athletes were outstanding. They won 15 championships and took five second placings.

Marlene Smith won Victoria's only title—the 75 yards under 18.

The high jumps were postponed until Monday.

VICTORIA HAS MORAL WIN

By BILL HEALY

VICTORIA has had a moral victory in the discretionary handicapping dispute.

It has accepted tentatively an invitation from the N.S.W. Trotting Club to adopt a discretionary handicapping plan.

The plan is slightly different from the one being used at present for the special handicaps being conducted in Melbourne.

Under it, Victoria must impose penalties for wins in discretionary handicapped races, and Victoria is prepared to do this.

However, N.S.W. has added one proviso in its invitation. The new system must be acceptable to the Inter - Dominion Trotting Conference. N.S.W. also urges that the Trotting Control Board should seek conference approval.

The secretary of the T.C.B., Mr. Alan Dunn, said on Saturday night the board was not prepared to seek approval of any kind.

Mr. Dunn said: "The board has made it clear that the Trotting Races Act, under which it functions, does not allow of it to delegate authority over Victorian trotting to any other body."

The N.S.W. plan, according to Mr. Dunn, is very much on the same lines as that which the T.C.B. has been attempting to persuade other States to adopt.

Games star in form

Olympian Marjory McQuade showed she was returning to form yesterday by clocking 1.11.8 to win the 110 yards open Olympic Club handicap.

She should be at her peak by February, when the Olympic tests will be held on her own "ground" — Olympic pool, Melbourne.

Young Olympic club swimmer John Gibson again reduced his unofficial 220 yards State backstroke record figures, this time by 3.1 seconds in a club handicap.

Vacancies for

RAAF AIRCREW SIGNALLERS

(RADIO OPERATORS)

For young men with initiative and adaptability here is one of those outstanding once-in-a-lifetime opportunities. A chance to make a future in the air . . . as an air-crew Signaller in the R.A.A.F. This is a career that has everything! It offers you the thrills of life in the air, an interesting eventful life, combining the absorbing duties of aircraft radio operator and air gunner. It offers special air-crew pay and allowances, scope for promotion right up to commissioned Officer rank and a steady, secure career with a pension or gratuity at the end of your service. Where else could you find a career that offers so much? The qualifications you need for successful application are few but rigid. If you can measure up there's a great life waiting for you in the R.A.A.F. Here are the requirements —

Qualifications: Age: 18 years but not more than 25 years on 14th May, 1952. Applicants must be medically fit and unmarried. Education: Pass at Intermediate or equivalent Certificate examination, with Science and Mathematics compulsory subjects. Higher qualifications are an advantage. For full details, enquire at any R.A.A.F. Station, any District Recruiting Committee, or at address below; or send coupon.

SALES ARE GOOD IN BIG OFFERING

Finance stops buyers

The market is still well supplied with buyers, but finance is restricting many of them.

When owners are able to sell on terms, or with finance arranged, they have much more competition for their properties and much higher prices are obtained.

The owner of a small house at Preston, after it had been passed in at auction on Saturday, fixed the price at £900 cash—£1,000, terms.

Won race and died

Ballarat, Sunday

Soon after winning a married men's race at a picnic in the Botanic Gardens this afternoon, Ray Stratton, 42, of Castlemaine, complained of being ill and collapsed.

He was taken to Ballarat Base Hospital, but was dead on arrival.

He leaves a wife and three young children.

PROPERTY
By HARRY PERROTT, "The Argus" Real Estate writer.

IN a record Saturday offering of nearly 200 suburban properties, about 60% were passed in for private sale.

Considering the large offering, this can be regarded as very satisfactory.

Small cottages in inner suburbs with vacant possession are still bringing relatively high prices.

At Clifton Hall £1,825 was paid for a vacant cottage, while the two adjoining, exactly similar, but tenanted, sold for £1,100 and £1,135.

Little interest

The auction market was tried for several newly built houses but little interest was shown and some were withdrawn without any bids being made.

In a number of cases no bids were made for older vacant possession houses.

There was not much interest in building allotments offered.

Sheep prices show slight upward move

SHEEP were slightly dearer at country sales throughout Victoria and the Riverina last week.

But, compared with prices in the early spring and at this time last year, they are still selling cheaply.

There was no recovery last week from the recent decline in pig values.

MENZIES WARNS ALLIES

"Don't give Japs right to build long-range Navy"

New York, Sunday

AUSTRALIA still fears the prospect of Japan building long-range naval vessels, says Mr. Menzies, Australia's Prime Minister, in an article he has written for the influential quarterly magazine, "Foreign Affairs."

Australia was warning her Allies of this danger, says Mr. Menzies, in his discussion of the Japanese Peace Treaty.

"Are both defensive and offensive armament to be included in Japanese rearmament?" he asks.

"Japan, to be defended against invasion, does not, for example, need long-range submarines, nor does she need long-range surface ships of war.

"She may need them against us (Australia), or against you (the United States); but does she need them against the common prospective enemy?

"This is not just an expression of fear. It is a note of warning."

Mr. Menzies reviewed Australia's efforts at the San Francisco treaty conference and elsewhere to argue this matter with her allies. Her case, he said, was based on "a recollection of the reason for Japan's rapid southward advance in 1941-42."

"The truly fluid instrument of advance," he said, "was a powerful navy and a great mercantile marine.

"It is this recollection which gave rise to the repeated Australian request, made to both Washington and London, that in any permitted Japanese rearmament there should be a prohibition upon the creation of naval units of a long-range (that is, offensive character."

Risk accepted

Mr. Menzies admitted that in peace treaties, "judgment . . . must involve the acceptance of risks."

It would be foolish, he said, "to force a hard and bitter peace upon Japan because we feared that in 15 or 20 years' time Japan might once more become an aggressor, when the real and present question is whether, inside the next two years, we shall between us be strong enough to resist a vast Communist aggression."

If the United States chose to see Japan as an important factor in world defensive strategy against Communism, Mr. Menzies said, who could say it was wrong?

Mr. Menzies said that after the Australia-New Zealand-United States security pact came into effect Australia's defence preparations would not merely be her "own business."

"We shall owe them also to our friends, without whose help we cannot hope to maintain our freedom against a major challenge. . . .

"Our defence effort . . . becomes part of the concerted effort of the free world."—A.A.P.

Canal train blasted

Cairo, Sunday

Saboteurs derailed a British military train and killed four British soldiers in the Suez Canal zone yesterday, by blowing up a stretch of track.

The derailment resulted from the explosion of a land mine placed on the track by two unknown persons just outside Suez City.

The incident coincided with the declaration of a state of emergency in Cairo and an announcement by Mr. Jefferson Caffery, U.S. Ambassador, that the United States was trying to solve the explosive Anglo-Egyptian dispute through negotiations.

Cairo police ordered a state of emergency and stationed riot squads at various points in the city to prevent any possible student demonstrations.

Violence flared up elsewhere in the Canal Zone as Egyptian religious leaders renewed their call for a holy war against the British.

British troops at Fayid opened fire on a group of Egyptians who attempted to stone gun emplacements at the headquarters of General Sir Brian Robertson, British Commander in the Middle East. The attackers fled.

In Cairo, two Egyptian members of the British Embassy staff have been placed under a four-day provisional confinement by the Egyptian District Attorney's office.

Today the D.A.'s office said that the two men were charged with having made derogatory remarks about the Egyptian Government to eight witnesses.

BRITAIN TO REOPEN EXCHANGE MARKET

ing trading banks to deal in foreign exchange.

● Help manufacturers in Britain to build up their exports to America and other dollar areas, and in this way help solve Britain's developing dollar crisis.

● Help sterling countries determine exchange rate policy by providing them with a sensitive barometer of short-term foreign exchange trends.

● Help to attract back to London some of the specialised financial business for foreign customers which before the war contributed significantly to Britain's foreign exchange earnings.

Copland's comment

Sir Douglas Copland, Vice-Chancellor of the National University, said the British decision was the first step towards some freedom in foreign exchange transactions.

He said it was also a step towards restoring London as the foreign exchange market.

But he warned that the immediate strength of sterling as a result of the decision would depend on American support of the British defence programme, and of sterling as the basic currency of the European payments union.

Sir Douglas said: "The British decision is limited to forward quotations and transactions in exchange rates within the limits of restrictions already imposed on sterling as regards hard currency areas.

"The forward market will not reflect the true weakness or strength of sterling, but it will reflect the estimate made by dealers in forward exchange of the need to continue present restrictions on exchange transactions.

"This might be of valuable assistance to the British Government in gauging the ultimate strength of sterling, but it has to be associated with any moves that may be made in the future through which the United States will support sterling through giving additional assistance for the British defence plan, and through backing sterling as the currency on which the European payments union depends.

"The immediate strength of sterling will depend on this."

Sir Douglas Copland said the decisions of the Canadian Government to abandon all foreign exchange controls, and the Bank of England decision, would have only very minor influences on Australian trade; but if, as a result of the British decision, sterling became stronger, Australia would naturally benefit.

The effect of the British decision on forward transactions would mean little to Australia, because Australia had a traditional fixed relationship with sterling.

chen and found her husband dying in a chair.

The youth is believed to have with him a quantity of tinned food and clothing and a sleeping-bag. A rifle was slung across his back when he drove off on the motorcycle.

He was wearing a military khaki greatcoat when he left the house, and was riding a silver and chrome motorcycle, number 50118.

Police thought he might head for Bendigo district.

Police in N.S.W. and South Australia were also instructed yesterday to watch for him.

Mrs. Cockburn, through the police, appealed to her son Douglas to come home as soon as possible.

Anyone knowing his whereabouts is asked to contact Det.-Sgt. C. Petty or Detective S. Miller, of the Melbourne homicide squad.

French hit back at rebels

Hanoi, Sunday

French troops, planes, and gunboats yesterday launched a heavy dawn attack on fleeing Indo-China rebels.

The rebels were trying to regain their own lines after sustaining heavy losses in the battle for the Boabinh bulge in the Tonking Delta.

The French army claimed to have killed 3,500 and wounded the same number in the battle.

French losses were only a fraction of the rebel casualties, a communique said.

Of the 3,500 enemy dead, about 2,500 were killed in the actual fighting for the bulge, French authorities said.

The Boabinh Bulge is in the extreme west of the Tonking Delta, Indo-China's vital riceland area.

Vietminh rebels launched a major offensive there six days ago.—A.A.P.

Private banks will fix the rate

By the Financial Editor

FROM tomorrow the Commonwealth Bank will cease quoting an official rate of exchange for U.S. dollars.

This follows the decision of the Bank of England to allow the sterling market for dollars to fluctuate within limits of its official rate of exchange.

For the first time since August, 1939, the private trading banks in Australia will be free to deal in U.S. dollars for "permitted transactions" at rates fixed by themselves.

The Commonwealth Bank, which has fixed the dollar exchange since 1939, will continue to quote a dollar rate for its own customers.

In addition it will provide facilities for the private banks to cover them against overnight risk in their dollar transactions.

As the new Bank of England arrangement does not come into operation until today in London, Australian banks will today continue to do business in U.S. dollars at the previous rates.

According to the closing rates in London today, the Australian banks will tomorrow morning adjust their quotations for all foreign currencies.
